PCH Village Replaces Rental Agent But Problem of Qualifying Income Level Remains

One problem solved and one problem still very much plaguing Princeton Community Housing's moderate and low income housing "village" nearing completion on Bunn Road:

PCH Village, TOWN TOPICS readers will recall, just weeks ago was steaming toward completion of a seven-year effort to bring subsidized housing to the Township. The units were designed, built and financed so that they would be attractive not only to people already living in Princeton but also to those who work in Princeton but have never felt capable of meeting the stiff housing costs here.

Then last month, with the first 70 family units scheduled to be completed by August and with applicants flooding into the PCH Village rental office, trouble of the worst kind struck.

As applicants filled out forms listing their incomes, family size, number of dependents, and other data, many of them discovered that under the existing formulas used to compute rents they would be required to pay the highest rates, not those reflecting the government subsidy. PCH, much to its dismay, began to sense a disturbing pattern: Those for whom the project was built--teachers, police officers, municipal workers, University employees--were not able to afford the Village's rent.

To make matters worse, when applicants expressed their concern, they received little comfort from the professional management agency hired by PCH to administrate the rentals. "Not enough attention was paid to local concerns and to the interests of local residents," conceded Marianne Rees, president of PCH. Rather than continue to frustrate and possibly alienate apartment seekers, PCH decided to close down its rental office and stop taking applications.

This week that problem was solved. The first agency, a Perth Amboy firm that specializes in multi-family housing, agreed verbally to terminate its contract with PCH. PCH, in turn, engaged the services of Karl M. Light Real Estate as the new rental and managing agent of the Village. Applications are once again being taken and interviews conducted.

"The PCH Board sincerely regrets any inconvenience or delay that the change in management may have caused," the housing group said in announcing the change "We can assure all applicants, however, that the application will now resume and any questions or concerns will be speedily answered Interviews with all persons who have previously submitted preliminary applications are being immediately scheduled. Preliminary applications are still being accepted and are available at the rental office on the site."

The revised office hours are now from 9 to 1 Monday through Friday; 5 to 8 Wednesday; 1 to 5 Sunday; and at other times by appointment. Telephone number remains 921-1686, and an answering service will take messages 24 hours a day.

COBB, BROWN NAMED

To School Vacancies. In what had to be considered a relatively quiet and harmonious Princeton Regional School Board meeting, the board Tuesday night approved the appointment of an acting principal of the Middle School and an acting director of Staff Services.

Philip J. Cobb, vice-principal of the John Witherspoon School, was appointed acting principal of the Middle School for a term running from July 1 to June 30 next year. He succeeds Virginia Euell, who was not reappointed to her post after a long and bitter community struggle. Miss Euell has lodged charges of sex and race discrimination against the board with the New Jersey Division of Civil Rights.

Miss Estelle Brown, administrative assistant to the high school principal, was named acting director of Staff Services for the same one-year term, replacing Dr. Constance Vieland, whose contract also was not renewed. Dr. Vieland has lodged a sex discrimination charge with the Division of Civil Rights, and has filed a legal action with the State Department of Education, claiming that she had been granted tenure in that postion.

Only Judith Getis voted against the naming of Miss Brown. Board President Winthrop Pike was the lone dissenter in the vote of approval for Mr. Cobb.

As if its past record were not clear enough, the board made clear that they who giveth also taketh away. "I want to reemphasize that these are only acting appointments," Mr. Pike said. With respect to Miss Brown's position, he added: "In the face of the possible severe cutbacks in state aid that we may experience, I frankly wonder how long a position like that of director of staff services can continue in Princeton."

More Changes Possible. School Superintendent Philip E. McPherson seemed to be referring to the unsettled state of the legal action of Miss Euell and Dr. Vieland, when he said: "Perhaps the record should show that there are circumstances involving these positions -- concerning people formerly in them -- and that there may also be a special need for vigorous recruiting to get permanent people as soon as possible. In other words, these people should be aware they might not even complete their normal, one-year contract."

The board also was presented with a detailed report on a new Wednesday program prepared by the aforementioned Dr. Vieland. In January of this year, the board told the administration to develop a new program subject to new constraints, most importantly that any programs be "directed specifically at educational problems in the schools," and that the program take place only every other Wednesday from 1:30 to 3:30 or 30 or 40 hours per school year.

The program outlined by Dr. Vieland organizes the program into five four-week sessions. "We think we can get more continuity that way than stopping and starting every other week," said Dr. Vieland.

Initial reaction of the board seemed favorable. However, Dale Madden referred to a section recommending that custodians and secretaries participate in some programs on a required basis. "I fail to see how custodians and secretaries can contribute to the development of instructional programs," he commented.

Why Not Parents? Dr. McPherson explained that these staff people often come into direct contact with students in trying situations, particularly in the lower grades, and that "they ought to know how to relate to these children."

J.B. Smith, terming the report "clearly a step in the right direction," pointed to a proposal that skills be developed in conducting effective parent-teacher conferences. "Maybe," he added, with a smile, "some of the parents could use that one too."

SITE PLAN ENACTED

By Borough Council. Five ordinances were unanimously passed by Borough Council Tuesday night in a harmonious session. An Environmental Review Procedure ordinance was adopted which had been recommended by the Planning Board in April and which is due for passage by Township Committee next week.

The essentials of the new procedure:

- The creation of a joint Borough-Township Committee of professionally and environmentally-oriented volunteers who would meet informally with applicants to review site plan applications before they come to the Planning Board.

- The establishment of specific criteria and standards of an environmental or site design nature (14 in all).
- Provision of a short form procedure for a single applicant when the application is judged to have only minor environmental impact.

An ordinance was passed allowing a five percent salary increase for all Borough employees except for members of the police force whose salaries are still being negotiated. An amendment will be introduced when a contract is agreed upon.

Another ordinance authorized the Borough to advertise for bids from the taxi industry to provide reduced fare service for senior citizens during the middle of the day for the purpose of "obtaining essential services." One taxi organization or a consortium of cabs could provide the service. A dispatcher will be required to take reservations, and the service limited to the two municipalities, would cost 50 cents in an inner zone and 75 cents in the outer. Mayor Cawley said that if this attempt is not successful, another service will be sought.

Councilman Murray Medvin reported that hazardous routes to schools are being discussed at length with the School Board and the Township. He anticipates that parents can expect a continuation of the present arrangements for one more year year.

To a round of applause from Quarry neighbors, a resolution was read stating the Borough's intention to ap-

EVERYTHING'S GREAT BUT THE RENT: Designed by Princeton architects Agle, Short & Holt, Morgan, Schwartz, the PCH Village project is drawing rave reviews from applicants visiting the wooded site on Bunn Drive in Princeton Township. The units nearing completion in this photograph are part of 167 two, three and four bedroom townhouses, 70 of which should be ready for occupancy in August. A six-story midrise building with 71 one-bedroom units is scheduled for occupancy sometime next winter. (Photo by Irwin H. Kaplan)

PCH Village

"I hope we will do the person-to-person part of this job in a more humane way," says Marcy Crimmins, who along with Lucy Graves will represent the Light Agency at the site.

With its public relations problems apparently solved, PCH still has another problem: Trying to convince the Department of Housing and Urban Development to raise the qualifying income levels for subsidized rents so that Princeton employees can afford to live in PCH Village. Under current guidelines a family of four making $10,151 a year would have to pay $408 a month for a three-bedroom apartment in PCH. If the qualifying levels were raised--$3,000 is what PCH officials would like to see--that same family could rent the unit for $250 per month, including all utilities.

Tackling HUD means taking on all of the worst in a bureaucracy.. The man leading the fight in Princeton is Township Mayor Jay Bleiman. On Monday, June 2, Mr. Bleiman fired off a three-page letter, with three detailed tables, to the HUD area director in Camden, Patricia Hampton.

"Of the 533 preliminary applications received by PCH in its first-round call, 240, or 45 percent-- all in the target group for whom the housing was intended-- fell outside the present income limits for basic rents. To live at PCH, these families would have to pay the market rent, which for most would be clearly out of the question," Mr. Bleiman wrote. "Please note that if the in income levels were raised by $3,000, 129 families, or slightly more than half of those excluded, could qualify for the basic rent."

"A sense of despair and alarm has enveloped all of those who have labored arduously for almost seven years now to make this the first subsidized low and moderate income housing project in Princeton a reality," Mr. Bleiman continued.

"Time is of the essence. Completion of the 167 family units is close at hand," he wrote. "If the first group of 70 to enter is not a well balanced mix, reflective of the desired final mix of the PCH housing community, the goal of an integrated project will be lost. We therefore need help immediately."

The Runaround. This past Monday, a week later, Mr. Bleiman still had no answer. Nor had any of his calls to Ms. Hampton been returned. He had reached an economic analyst for HUD, named Jose Camacho. "He told me it's very hard to change income levels but he'd look into it."

Later in the day, Mr. Bleiman was still trying without success to get Ms. Hampton. "It's hard to get through to these people but that's the way it always is." The mayor was given the name of HUD's operations director for this area, Richard Fishbough, but he was unable to reach this man either.

TOWN TOPICS tried to reach Mr. Fishbough and--lickety-split-- had him on the line. Did Mr. Fishbough think that Mr. Bleiman's letter would bring about any changes in the income levels? "Whose letter?" he asked.

Mr. Fishbough was told that the Mayor was writing on behalf of PCH. "Oh, yeah, PCH. That's the state's jurisdiction. Not ours." Mr. Fishbough was given an example of the problems PCH faces: family of six, $11,750 income, a rental charge of $476 a month for a four-bedroom apartment. "That does sound a little high to me--that's a lot of money," Mr. Fishbough said. "Of course, you've got to remember everything's going up these days."

Cheek with PHA. Well, did Mr. Fishbough think that the qualifying income levels might be raised so that a family such as this one might be entitled to a little help? "Oh no. We wouldn't do that unless your public housing authority there requested an increase. And they probably wouldn't do that because that just qualifies more people for public housing and you don't have enough of that up there as it is."

Karin Slaby, executive director of the Princeton Housing Authority, was asked if her organization had considered making such a request. "From what I understand our levels couldn't be changed enough to do any good," she said. "We can't legitimately upgrade beyond a certain point or we wouldn't be meeting low-income needs."

Mayor Bleiman was reached a third time. He concurred with Mrs. Slaby's opinion on the possibility of help from PHA. "What I'm asking for are special considerations for Princeton, using regulations that are on the books and available to HUD," said Mr. Bleiman. "The important thing is to get the HUD people concerned and involved in this. If they keep waiting for us to make all the moves then nothing will happen."

He added: "Just say that the mayor is making every effort to raise the qualifying income levels, but that he is being shunted about as usual. What it's going to take finally is a trip to Camden." The mayor added something else but he asked that it not be quoted.

Design Praised. The frustration was heightened by the fact that the PCH Village project has been otherwise so successful, according to Mrs. Rees, the PCH president. "We haven't heard one negative comment about the design or the quality of construction. It shows how successful a subsidized housing project can be."

Mrs. Rees said that if the HUD income levels are not raised, PCH would be faced with two options: Fill the project up with a high proportion of relatively high-income people from Princeton, or take people from outside Princeton who qualify for the low rent levels.

The group would probably opt for the second. "It is subsidized housing and it would be a shame to see the subsidy wasted."

University Confers 1,650 Degrees at 228th Commencement

Under sunny skies and in a pleasantly cooling breeze, Princeton University conferred a total of 1,650 bachelor and advanced degrees Tuesday morning at its 228th commencement.

Two Princeton residents were honored at commencement and pre-commencement ceremonies. Architect Jean Labatut, of 3 Palmer Square, received an honorary doctor of humanities. Mr. Labatut is a professor of architecture emeritus of the University, former director of graduate studies in architecture, and founder of Princeton's bureau of urban research and architectural laboratory. He is the architect of Havana's Jose Marti Monument Park and Plaza and the Fountain Spectacles at the 1939 World's Fair in New York.

The University citation read in part: "The monuments of his creation have been built in inanimate bricks and mortar, in moving light and water, more enduringly still in the artistry and imagination of his pupils."

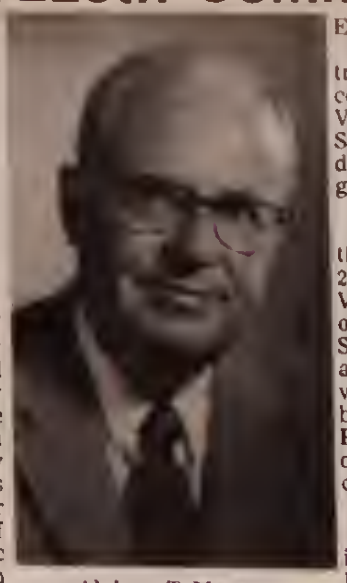
Jean Labatut

Alpheus T. Mason, 8 Edgehill Street, received the University's Alumni Council Award in a ceremony following the annual P-Rade Saturday afternoon at Clarke Field.

Mr. Mason, McCormick Professor of Jurisprudence Emeritus and the biographer of Supreme Court Justices Louis Brandeis and Harlan Stone, is the first Princeton faculty member honored by the Council since the creation of the award four years ago.

Godel Absent. Also scheduled to receive an honorary degree, but too ill to make the required appearance at graduation to accept it, was Kurt Godel, of 145 Linden Lane, a professor of mathematics and philosophy at the Institute for Advanced Study. The previously-prepared citation stated: "His revolutionary analysis of received methods of proof in that most familiar and elementary branch of mathematics, the arithmetic of whole numbers, has shaken the foundations of our understanding of the human mind."

Congressman Peter W. Rodino Jr., Roy D. Hudson, president of the Hampton Institute, and Simone Veil, minister of health in France, joined Mr. Labatut as recipients of honorary degrees.



Alpheus T. Mason

There were 736 men and 291 women in the graduating senior class – a total of 1,027 recipients of bachelor's degrees. The undergraduate degrees included 928 Bachelors of Arts and 99 Bachelors of Science in Engineering.

In keeping with long tradition, the two principal commencement speeches, the Valedictory and the Latin Salutatory addresses, were delivered by members of the graduating class.

Tradition Broken. Since, for the first time in Princeton's 229-year history, the Valedictorian Cynthia Chase of New York, and the Latin Salutatorian Lisa S. Siegman, also of New York, were women, tradition was also being broken. Princeton President William G. Bowen delivered brief remarks at the conclusion of the ceremonies.

The 623 advanced degrees included 252 Doctors of Philosophy; 227 Masters of Arts; 54 Masters of Science in Engineering; 43 Masters in Public Affairs; 24 Masters in Fine Arts; 12 Masters of Architecture; eight Masters of Architecture and Urban Planning; two Masters in Public Affairs and Urban Planning; and one Master of Urban Planning.

YEDLIN MOVES AHEAD

On Conditional Approval. In a surprising show of near unanimity, the Princeton Regional Planning Board granted conditional approval to the site review application for the proposed low-rent housing for families and the elderly at Ewing Street and Mount Lucas Road. The project, is being developed by Benedict Yedlin for the Princeton Housing Authority.

The board's action, said Karin Slaby, executive director of the PHA, "is exactly what we've been waiting for." She added: "There's nothing now that you could call a roadblock. By early fall we might be breaking ground."

The most lengthy and controversial of all the housing authority's projects, the 100-unit development was granted conditional approval by a 12-1 vote of the board. Charles Berry voted nay.

"This project got a great deal of concentrated attention," said Hans K. Sander, planning board chairman. "It was reviewed four times by the environmental design review committee in one month. We worried about and discussed other matters over which we had no real authority. We finally satisfied ourselves that these people had done as much as they could with respect to these points.

"If everyone had stood on the strict procedures and not been capable of bending their personnl principles, a compromise never could have been made," Mr. Sander said. "Many times you have to make a value judgment, weighing the positive points against any doubts you may have."

Not Home Free. In most board member's minds, apparently, the positive aspects outweigh the negative.

The chairman emphasized that the developers are not "home free." The approval spells out a dozen conditions that the Yedlin project must still meet, including detailed plans for an on-site, storm water retention facility; grading and soil stabilization; a trash collection enclosure;

Seniors Go Out with a Bang, and Complaints

No, a war hadn't erupted in Princeton as one rumor had it; it was just members of Princeton University senior class setting off fireworks early Tuesday morning in Palmer Stadium. It only lasted about 15 minutes but the real fireworks came from angry nearby residents.

Chief Frederick Porter from the Township reports about 50 calls complaining about the noise from the fireworks and four about the loud music emanating from the plaza in front of the math-physics complex on Washington Road.

Borough Chief Michael Carnevale reports that the first of many calls from "angry citizens" that came in on all three police lines occurred at 12:19 a.m. and continued until 12:37. Borough police did not log the number but they were described as many."

As agreed between Township Committee and the graduating seniors, the amplifiers carring the music were turned off at t a.m. but the music was allowed to continue. Committee also gave its okay for the fireworks to the students, who had to post a bond against any possible injuries.

landscaping; paths, sidewalks, and lighting; and a bus stop shelter.

These plans have to wend their way again through the entire approval process-- first to the environmental design review committee, and then back to the Regional Planning Board. Once they are approved, the Yedlin project gets a building permit.

"These things are more technical than anything else," said Mrs. Slaby. "Mr. Yedlin's architects and engineers are working on them now, and I think they would be ready for presentation in a couple of weeks or so."

HUD Review Next. Now armed with the conditional approval, the PHA is ready to move ahead with the Department of Housing and Urban Development. Because this is a "turnkey" project, in which the housing authority in effect buys the project from the developer, PHA must submit to HUD a cost estimate and a program for development.

The original cost was estimated at $1.7 million, but that was three years ago. Once PHA gets HUD to agree to a price on the project, PHA can sign a contract of sale with Mr. Yedlin, and he can begin building the 100 units of housing.

"So many different things must be submitted to the federal, state, and local levels," Mrs. Slaby reflected this week. The concept of building public housing in the Township originated in 1968, Mrs. Slaby recalled.

"It took a couple of years of legal maneuvering to enable a Borough housing authority to operate in the Township." Approval to move ahead was finally received from HUD in February, 1972.

Hot Topic. Then the controversy heated up at the local level, in large part pitting conservationists against housing advocates.

"I hadn't expected it to develop quite this way, but you never know," said Mrs. Slaby.

She does not expect to encounter the qualifying income problem faced by the PCH Village and described in this week's cover story. Because Yedlin will be a low-income, public housing project, rents will be set at a flat 25 percent of the family income, so long as that income does not exceed a certain limit.

In other Planning Board activity, deliberations on the Sheehan building were continued to the Board's next regular meeting, July 1.

The Board also granted approval to Katherine Ness for her proposed conversion of a single family dwelling at 46 Wiggins Street to four apartments. The application now must be submitted to the Board of Adjustment for a final decision.

On The Way

Summer's Coming
Bright and cool--
Bikini and a
Swimming Pool

There are a few more days of spring left, but that warm and hopefully lazy season is not far away. Summer begins a week from Saturday.

As if to herald its arrival, the temperature has begun to climb, following early morning readings this week in the low 50s. Showers are a late Thursday possibility, the Man reports, with partially sunny skies expected to return and last through the weekend. After all, the first week in June produced more than the average total rainfall for the month.

LOOP BUS BACK

On Township Agenda. Township Committee meets next Monday at 8 with several much-discussed items on the agenda. Heading the list: Another discussion of the loop bus system. The agreement between the Township, Borough, and Suburban Transit Company expires at the end of this month and another one must be worked out to keep the bus in operation.

Also scheduled are public hearings on two related ordinances. One is the new environmental design review ordinance, updating a Township ordinance on the books for several years. The new ordinance is similar to the one under consideration in the Borough and, if both are approved, the two municipalities will require substantially the same environmental review and facilitate the work of the Regional Planning Board.

The other proposed ordinance is an amendment that would make major subdivisions-- "major" refers to projects that involve more than two building lots-- subject to the environmental design review.

A final plan for development of the first phase of the north side of Community Park will be presented. Public comment will be welcomed.

Committee will also hear a request from the Health Department for an emergency appropriation to put Health Officer Herman Lavan on a fulltime employment basis. Mr. Lavan, a pensioned health officer from Hamilton Township, will lose his pension benefits under state law if he continues to work in a public office.

Keeping Busy. If he continued even his part-time job he would lose his pension. The Board of Health decided it had enough projects to keep him busy on a fulltime basis at least through December.

The Recreation Department is expected to request permission for amplified music for a summer concert July 10 at Battlefield Park. Administrator Joseph Nini said that such requests usually meet with little public opposition.

Some citizens, however, may have wished they spoke out when Committee granted a request to the University's senior class for a fireworks display Monday night at midnight as part of the Senior Prom. Mr. Nini said that police received a substantial number of complaints and then more complaints when the music continued past 1 a.m.

The Recreation Department, Mr. Nini pointed out, is seeking permission for music during more reasonable hours-- 7:30 to 9:30.

423 WILL GRADUATE

In High School Commencement Exercises. Princeton High School's Commencement Exercises, scheduled to take place Thursday evening at 6:30 in Jadwin Gymnasium, will open with a Ceremonial Procession by Charles Gainod played by the High School Commencement Band, directed by W.R. Horner. Following the invocation by Rabbi Hershel J. Matt of the Princeton Jewish Center, Susan Wright, President of the Class of 1975, will give the Address of Welcome.

After the Salutatory Address by Mirian Lewin and the Valedictory Address by Donald Seitz, diplomas will be presented to the 423 graduating seniors by Winthrop Pike, President of the Board of Education, Dr. Philip E. McPherson, Superintendent of Schools and George Petrillo, Principal of the High School. The Senior Class will then sing the Alma Mater by Woodruff and offer the Salute to the Flag.

The band, the class and the audience will join in the singing of the Star Spangled Banner before Rev. Dr. A. Orley Swartzentruber, Rector of All Saints Episcopal Church, gives the Benediction. A Fanfare and Recessional by E. Melton will conclude the ceremonies.

COMPLEX OPPOSED

In West Windsor. After abandoning an earlier proposal for a $2.1 million municipal complex on North Post Road, the West Windsor Township Committee this Monday unanimously approved on first reading a proposal for a $1.7 million project.

The original proposal, which would have resulted in a tax rate increase of 12 cents per $100, created a storm of protest from a West Windsor citizens group. The second proposal, which is estimated to cost the taxpayers only seven cents per $100, was supposed to satisfy the demands of the citizens group.

Apparently it did not.

Following the meeting, Shirley Sherwin of South Lane, West Windsor, leader of the opposition to the new building, announced she would begin a recall campaign against all five Township committeemen. "We feel the cost of the building is still excessive," she said. "One million dollars is all we can afford."

Committeeman Myles Redmond protested that "this is the most economical building we can build."

Referendum Battle. Ms. Sherwin said that her group wanted this proposal submitted to the public in a referendum. Mr. Redmond said he would agree to that. The other four Committeemen said that Ms. Sherwin would have to obtain signatures from persons representing at least 10 percent of the assessed property in the Township before they would agree to a referendum.

The citizens group already has won one battle for a referendum. Last week Superior Court Judge George Y. Schoch ruled that the petition they submitted challenging the original $2.1 million proposal was a valid and legal protest.

Committee had also approved that proposal by a unanimous vote.

After losing the referendum battle, Committee scaled down its project, principally by eliminating a loft that was included in the original plans, and laid the groundwork for a substantial public relations plan to sell the scaled down proposal.

P.R. Too Late. Committee indicated it would hold an informal public meeting on the proposal, followed by a formal public hearing. A newsletter detailing the costs of the project was to be sent to all residents. But the flap was raised before the community relations effort could even begin.

In less controversial business, West Windsor Committee unanimously approved a $6.6 million sewer construction project that will involve about 1,900 homes.

Committee also announced that the Township's portion of the Stony Brook Regional Sewerage System has been approved by the State Department of Environmental Protection. It is expected to receive 75 percent Federal funding.

Curve Missed at Foot of Bayard Lane Brings Death to Three Students as Driver Survives

Three college students from outside the Princeton area were killed instantly when the car in which they were riding early Monday morning failed to make a curve at the foot of Bayard Lane and slammed broadside into a tree.

Police said that the impact ripped the car almost completely in half. The driver escaped serious injury.

Dead on arrival at Princeton Medical Center were Sue Beth Goettlicher, 20, of Johnstown, Pa., and Tamarra Jill Beaver, 22, of West Grove, Pa., both students at Penn State, and Nicholas Bangor, 22, of Levittown, Pa., a student at Bucks County Community College.

All died from head and internal injuries. An autopsy was performed later by Mercer County Medical Examiner David Fluck.

The driver, Daniel Dolby, 25, of Oaks, Pa., was admitted to the Medical Center in serious condition suffering from shock and lacerations and contusions of the body. His condition was later described as fair. Charges against him are pending the completion of the police investigation.

"I've talked to him but he's still a little hazy," said Sgt. Anthony Nini, Township Traffic Safety Officer, who worked 14 straight hours after he was notified of the 1:23 a.m. tragedy. Dolby broke down when told his friends were dead.

"I've seen my share of bad ones," commented Sgt. Nini, "including the train accident, but I've never seen a car ripped apart like that one and the severity of the injuries."

Ptl. Anthony Gaylord and Ptl. David Wilbur, on patrol at Cleveland and Elm, were at the scene less than a minute after police received a call from Kay Carnevale, who lives within 100 feet of the accident site and reported the crash. The Princeton First Aid and Rescue Squad appeared moments later.

Miss Beaver and Mr. Bangor and the driver were still in the car when police arrived. Miss Goettlicher was thrown clear. When they pulled the car away, the right front door was still wrapped around the tree, Sgt. Nini commented.

The 1963 sedan, in two pieces, was loaded on a flatbed wrecker and taken to Perna's Garage on Route 206. A fire truck from Engine No. 3 washed down gasoline that had leaked from the tank.

Sgt. Nini refused to speculate on what may have caused the accident until the investigation is complete. He declined also to blame speeding, although he said that "it would appear there was a high rate of speed." Police found no skid marks, he said.

The arc at the foot of Bayard is a long sweeping curve and a bad one, Sgt. Nini acknowledged. It is a 35-mile-an-hour zone. "We've had serious accidents there before but no deaths," he said.

It was the first triple accident death in the Township since February 22, 1952, when three persons died in a head-on collision on a straightaway just past Bruere's Hill. "I'll never forget the date; it was the first accident I ever investigated," recalled Sgt. Nini, who had joined the force on January 1.

DRIVER IS INJURED

In Turning Accident. Aida A. Hussein, 41, of Lawrence Court Apartments, was treated at Princeton Medical Center for lacerations of the face Sunday which she received in an accident on Hartley Avenue.

According to police, Mrs. Hussein had just turned from S. Harrison Street onto Hartley. She failed to straighten her front wheels and her car jumped the curb and struck a Public Service pole, causing front end damage to her small foreign car. There were no charges by Sgt. Michael Kipliner.

About an hour later at 4:26 in the afternoon two cars sideswiped on Route 206 between Arreton Road and Ewing Street.

John I. Hochstein, 22, of Gales Ferry, Conn., was charged with failing to keep right after his car crossed over the center line and struck a car driven by Kelly A. Murphy, 22, Ettl Farm, Rosedale Road.

Although the Murphy car, a 1964 sedan, was judged a total wreck, neither driver was injured. After impact, the Hochstein car skidded off the road into a small group of trees. Ptl. Mario Musso quoted Mr. Hochstein as saying he had just finished climbing a long hill and fallen asleep. His car sustained damage to the front end and undercarriage.

Three Are Injured. Three persons were injured in an accident at Witherspoon and Clay at 2:19 Saturday morning.

Jerome B. McGowan, 27, of Kendall Park, was charged with failing to yield after stopping by Ptl. James Agins. He allegedly turned from Clay onto Witherspoon into the path of a taxi operated by Harold Paul, 34, of Hightstown.

Mr. McGowan received contusions and abrasions of the knee; Mr. Paul abrasions of the eye. A passenger in the Paul car, Sebastian deGrazia, 26, 914 Great Road, sustained contusions and abrasions of the head.

ADMINISTRATOR NAMED

To West Windsor Township. The assistant administrator of Princeton Township was appointed Township Administrator for West Windsor Township on Monday and will assume his new post June 14. Girard C. Miller, 24, will assume the newly created position at a salary of $17,500.

An honors graduate in public administration of Syracuse University, Mr. Miller has worked in Princeton for the past two years. He will administer business and office management in West Windsor. He and his wife live in Plainsboro.

HOLDER HALL EMPTIED

By Bomb Threat. Borough police and university security evacuted Holder Hall Monday after someone telephoned that a bomb was set to go off at 1:15 in the WPRB radio office.

Police ordered a piece of fire equipment and the explosive unit at Fort Dix to standby. After the 1:15 deadline passed without incident, a search of the building was conducted.

About 1:45, a small box was located in the radio press room which no one could identify. As a result, the bomb disposal squad was asked to come to the scene but while en route, the owner of the box appeared, police said. It contained nothing more than books. No bomb was found.

TWO ARE FINED

For Careless Driving. Two Princeton residents were fined $25 Monday in Borough Traffic Court for careless driving.

They are Claudine Schepens, 647 Rosedale Road, and Edward W. Baruch, 170 Poe Road. Judge Philip Carchman also fined Robin Roman, 50 Wittmer Court, $15 for speeding.

RIGHTS CASE PRESSED

By Vieland and Euell. Constance Vieland, outgoing director of staff services, and Virginia Euell, outgoing principal of middle school, are continuing to press their charges of discrimination on the basis of sex, and Miss Euell is citing sexual and racial discrimination in the refusal of the school board to reappoint them to their positions. Dr. Vieland has been rehired as a school psychologist in the middle school. Miss Euell will teach science there next year.

A spokeswoman for the New Jersey State Division of Civil Rights, where the charges have been filed, said that a finding from the director's office might be handed down shortly, although she could not pinpoint the date. If the director finds probable cause to support the charges, a conciliatory meeting can be scheduled to seek immediate corrective action.

If this meeting fails to produce action, the director may schedule a public hearing on the matter. The spokeswoman would give no indication of the way the Division is leaning in these cases.

In a separate legal action, Mrs. Vieland has lodged a formal charge against the school board with the Division of Controversies and Disputes in the office of the Commissioner of Education. A pretrial hearing will be held this Friday.

Dr. Vieland claims that she had tenure in the position from which she was removed by the board. On Friday the lawyers will meet with the hearing officer from the Commissioner's office to determine relevant areas of the trial and, possibly, agree on a date.

THEFT REPORT

Playground Tables Taken. Two picnic tables with attached benches were stolen this week from the Hamilton Avenue playground on the corner of Chestnut Street.

Valued at $50 each, the tables were reported as stolen by George Clausen, superintendent of playgrounds and roads.

University dorms were the targets of larcenies during reunion weekend.

A Pentax camera valued at $300 and two camera lenses, valued at $110 and $50, were stolen from Eno Hall. They were owned by the Biology Department, according to police, who reported no forced entry. A stereo receiver and speaker ($450) were stolen from a handstand in 1903 Hall.

Two speakers valued at $80 and a $280 stereo tape deck were taken last week from the basement in Wilcox Hall, and again police report no breakin.

While a student was showering Saturday morning in Foulke Hall, someone took $70 from his wallet, and there were two more wallet thefts at the Dial Lodge, 26 Prospect Avenue.

One student lost $20 when his wallet was taken from his third floor bedroom and another lost $6, also taken from a third floor room. A suspect in the latter theft was described as about 50, 165 pounds, 5-11, with brown hair and a small beard, wearing a blue windbreaker, grey trousers and a white shirt.

A green Honda mini-bike was stolen from an unlocked garage on Pine Street last week. It was valued at $200.

NEXT STOP BOURBON STREET: Princeton Provost Sheldon Hackney, leaving to become president of Tulane University, and his wife, Lucy, will get a taste of their new home at a farewell party being held in their honor by the Princeton Community Democratic Organization. The party will be Saturday from 5 to 9 at the home of Paul and Barbara Sigmund, 8 Evelyn Place. Mrs. Sigmund's mother, Congress woman Lindy Boggs, will be on hand to present the Hackneys with a key to the City of New Orleans. Appropriate music will be provided by Arnie Roth's Dixieland Band. The Democrats are calling the party a "Bourbon Street Bash." For information call Lois Etz, 924-7300 or 921-7469; or Kate Litvack, 924-937S.

During its going-out-of-business sale, a 12-inch square wooden butcher's block clock, valued at $60, was stolen from The Game Room on Nassau Street.

4 Tires Stolen. Four Michelin radial tires and wheels valued at $304.88, were stolen last week from a parked car owned by Carl S. Witonsky, 600 Lake Drive. Police said that the car, parked in Mr. Witonsky's drive, was jacked up, the wheels removed, and the car left on cinder blocks.

Last week, while Marilyn Middlebrook, 47 Hemlock Circle, was playing tennis at the Community Park courts, she left an automatic wristwatch inside her tennis racket cover. When she finished playing, she discovered the $150 watch was missing.

ROOM ENTERED

At Hun School. A door to a second floor athletic equipment room at the Hun School was forced open last week and ransacked. An inventory is being taken to determine what is missing, police said.

Entry was through a ground level window of the athletic building. Ptl. Robert Nielsen is investigating.

A room in Lockhart Hall on the university campus was reported entered Saturday afternoon through an open window. Taken were three cymbals ($170), a drum case ($40) and a tan suede coat ($75).

Two stereo speakers valued at $100 were taken from a car parked behind the Quadrangle Club, 33 Prospect Avenue. The car had been forced open, police said.

TWO TIRES SLASHED

By Vandals. Two tires on the right side of a car owned by Aaron Ashinazy of Roosevelt were slashed with a knife last week while it was parked on Alexander Street across from Andy's Tavern. Police report that it was the second incident within eight days of tires being slashed in that area.

Police said that the victim is a member of a car pool and parks in that vicinity daily. Det. Frank Boccanfuso is investigating.

Windows in a rear door of the former administration building of the Princeton Regional School system on Stockton Street were broken last week by what appears, police said, to have been a ball.

No ball was recovered but police found a baseball bat in the parking lot not far from the broken windows.

Suspects who last week forced open the front door of the home of Henry Hatcher, 52 Leigh Avenue, are known to police, according to Chief Frederick Porter. There was no actual entry, he said.

The investigation is being continued by Ptl. Robert Nielsen.

CHAPIN GRADUATES 27

From Eighth Grade. At the Chapin School Commencement exercises, Mr. Nelson Hoffman, headmaster of The Pennington School, was guest speaker and the diplomas were awarded by Mrs. Harrison Young, headmistress and Sanford Roeser, president of the Board of Trustees.

David McCord received the Trustees Award, given to the student whose attitude in the classroom and conduct among fellow students constitutes outstanding citizenship. The Francis Chapin award for citizenship and high scholastic achievement went to Robert Bratman and Grant Cooper. Tim Murray and George Wislar were awarded the Mildred Brown Reading Prize; Jeff Hudgins and Debbie Ford received The Chapin Community Award, and Grant Cooper also won the Roberts History Prize.

370 TO GRADUATE

From Franklin High School. Graduation exercises for 370 seniors at Franklin High School are set for Wednesday, June 18, at 6 at the George L. Ackerman Field. In case of rain, graduation will be held indoors in the gymnasium.

Rabbi Martin Schussel is scheduled to give the invocation, and Rita Ritsema and Karen Melick will give the valedictory and the salutatory addresses. Following the presentation of the Senior Class by George Cleaveland, principal, and its acceptance by Kenneth Langdon, President of the Board of Education, diplomas will be awarded by Mr. Langdon and Mrs. M. Barbara Francfort, assisted by Mr. Gregory P. Job.

After the singing of the alma mater and the benediction by Rev. Ronald Vanderbeek, a fanfare and recessional will signal the end of the ceremony.

Dan Coyle's Memory Honored by Station WPRB: Its Highest Award Will Be Given in His Name

The trustees of the Princeton Broadcasting Service, which operates WPRB-FM in Princeton, have renamed the station's highest award for exceptional accomplishment in memory of Dan D. Coyle, the former Assistant to the President and Director of Public Information of Princeton University, who died in 1973.

Formerly known as The Trustees Award, the Dan D. Coyle Award will be given to outstanding undergraduate station members whose work, integrity, and devotion to the standards of broadcasting and the University have set an example for others to follow. The award has been presented only ten times in the past 20 years.

In announcing the decision, the station's Trustees said that they felt Mr. Coyle exemplified the kind of person they wished to honor. In addition, the Trustees expressed much gratitude for his tireless work for and with the station and its members in both his official University capacities and on his own.

Mr. Coyle, a member of the Princeton Class of 1938, retired from the University in July, 1973, for reasons of health. He had joined the administrative staff early in 1946 after completing over five years of world War II service with the Army Ground Forces, advancing from second lieutenant to major. Assistant Director of Public Information and Director of Sports Information for a decade, was Assistant to President Harold W. Dodds in 1956-57, and became Associate Director of Public Information in 1957. Two years later, he was appointed Assistant to President Robert F. Goheen, a post which he held until assuming his position as Director in 1965.

A founding editor and publisher of TOWN TOPICS, Mr. Coyle was also editor of the Princeton Athletic News. Elected to Borough Council for two consecutive three-year terms, 1956-61, he served as Council President. Among his interests and affiliations were the Princeton Medical Center, the Princeton Democratic Club and Trinity Episcopal Church. He was a chairman of the Friends of the Priceton Public Library, a director and vice-president of the Chamber of Commerce.

SUSPECT NABBED

On Golf Green. James Tilton, 28, South Post Road, West Windsor, has been charged with larceny following his apprehension and arrest Saturday afternoon on the eighth green of the Springdale Golf Course. He is scheduled to appear in Borough Court on Wednesday, after being released in $25 bail.

Tilton was allegedly seen by Ptl. Bernard Lenhardt riding a stolen three-speed bicycle. Ptl. Lenhardt shouted "Stop!" but Tilton continued on and attempted to elude the officer.

He was finally stopped by Ptl. Lenhardt and Sgt. Thomas Procaccino aided by Princeton University proctors after he had run from the vicinity at Alexander Street onto the golf course. During his forced arrest, Tilton suffered an injury to his left hand and was taken to Princeton Medical Center for treatment.

Police have not yet been able to determine the owner of the bicycle.

John Duncan, 26, of Plainsboro, was arrested last week on Park Place by Borough police and charged with issuing a worthless check in the amount of $70 on January 18 at Community Wine and Liquors on Witherspoon Street. He faces a court appearance on Wednesday.

Also arrested last week was Kimberly Nelson, 18, of 184 Witherspoon Street. She has been charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

The complaint summons used by Ptl. Peter Hanley in making the arrest at Nassau and Witherspoon Streets, was signed by the mother of the juvenile, police said.

CRAFT FAIR PLANNED

At Shopping Center. Four special summer events, beginning with a colonial and contemporary crafts fair on Saturday, June 28, have been scheduled this summer at the Princeton Shopping Center. The events will run from 10 to 5.

The Shopping Center's Merchants' Association is making space available free of charge to any individual or group that wishes to participate. Call 921-6234 during the day or 448-5271 in the evenings to register.

The Crafts Fair already has registered craftsmen whose talents include leatherwork, pottery, quilling and quilting. Bob Kafes of Allentown will demonstrate the art of pressed flower pictures. Carol Taraschi of Princeton will display her sterling silver jewelry. Contemporary patchwork will be exhibited by Sally Miller of Kendall Park.

Participants are asked to supply their own tables. Rain date for the Crafts Fair is July 5.

On July 19, Community Day will provide an opportunity for community organizations to raise funds, increase membership, or make information available to the public.

Green Thumbs. The Shopping Center's Sidewalk Sale will be held Saturday, July 26.

Green Thumb Day will be Saturday, August 16. Registrants can sell garden produce, cut flowers or house plants, or help construct terrariums. Speakers will also lecture throughout the day on a variety of garden subjects. Leonard Blum of East Windsor will speak on "The Care and Keeping of African Violets."

OFFICERS NAMED

By University League. Officers of the University League for the 1975-76 academic year were appointed at the League's annual meeting held at 171 Broadmead. Mrs. Donald Grove, 191 Riverside Drive, was elected President of the League, the social and service organization for women of the University community.

Others on the executive committee are: Mrs. William Bowen, chairman: Mrs. David Harrje, first vice-president; Mrs. Leon Lapidus, second vice-president; Mrs. Heath Licklider, third vice-president; Mrs. Edward Seckel, recording secretary; Mrs. Joseph Smagorinsky, treasurer; Mrs. Wilmer Bottoms, corresponding secretary; Mrs. William Reed, membership secretary; Mrs. Alan Anderson, asst. Corresponding secretary, and Mrs. A.J. Stewart Smith, asst. membership secretary.

Other Board members, serving as committee chairmen, are Mrs. Theodore Ziolkowski, Art Museum volunteers; Mrs. Philip Ashby, constitution and by-laws; Mrs. Garth Wilkes, dance; Mrs. Alexander Vincent, editorial; Mrs. Howard Enda, English conversation; Mrs. Chester Rapkin, Furniture Exchange; Mrs. Robert Jahn, memorial funds; Mrs. Kenn Clark, newcomers; Mrs. Seymour Bogdonoff, nominating; Mrs. Norman Ryder, office volunteers; Mrs. James Steeg, public relations; Mrs. Geoffrey Watson, refreshments; Mrs. William Weathersby, trip coordinator; Mrs. Martin Kruskal, Women from Overseas; Mrs. Edward Cox, League representative to the Nursery School, and Mrs. Allen Kassof, past President.

SUMMER PROGRAM SET

At YWCA. Summer has come to the YWCA with a full schedule of activities for the entire family. The YW suggests that this is the time of the year to break out and try something new, explore new forms of creative expression or try your hand at canoeing, golf, tennis, paddleball, dance, yoga or any of the many diverse activities it offers for girls and women.

There are classes in typing, hand weaving, clay modeling, macrame, flower construction, dried flower gardens as well as needlepoint design, oil painting and acrylics for beginners, and quilting. For the small members of the family there are classes in kleinkinderturnen, pre-ballet, reading readiness, gym and swim as well as a toddler fun club for girls age 3-5. The more mature grade schoolers and high schoolers may choose camping trips, crafts classes, sports classes, clubs and outing. For full information of the numerous programs, contact the YWCA for a summer brochure, or call 924-4825.

Registration for summer classes which begin on June 23 will be held from 9-4:30 on Saturday and Monday.

INVENTOR IS SUBJECT

Of TV Program. New Jersey Public Broadcasting will explore the life of Vladimir Zworykin whose inventions made possible electronic television on "Logos" Wednesday, June 18, at 6:30 p.m. on Channel 52.

Early in this century, Mr. Zworykin developed the iconoscope, a pickup tube used in transmission, and the kinescope, the pickup tube which permits television reception in the home. His home is at 103 Battle Road.

Fete Balloon Found after Sailing 200 Miles to Tip of Long Island

Monica Hauser, a 7th grader at Hun School, bought a big orange balloon for 50 cents at the Hospital Fete on May 31 and was given a card on which to print her name and address before tying it to the balloon. Instead of releasing it there, she took it home to 235 Clover Lane and at the urging of a friend, added a request that the finder write her a letter. Then she let the balloon go.

Several days later she received a long letter from Mrs. Leslie Hicks of Orient Point, N.Y., 200 miles away at the tip of Long Island. Mrs. Hicks, who described herself as a grandmother of 14 grandchildren, found the balloon in her yard on June 2. "Two seconds longer," she wrote, "and it would have gone into the Sound."

According to Barbara Sanders, who headed the Balloon Booth for the Fete, the month-long contest is still open, and a prize of an AM-FM radio awaits the purchaser of the balloon found the farthest from Princeton. Monica's balloon's distance may be bettered, but she has won herself a pen pal.

ply for a state Green Acres grant to buy four-plus acres of the Quarry site for a park or recreation area. Green Acres would cover half the appraised value of $260,000.

Cautioning the residents, several of whom wore "Save the Quarry" T-shirts, that the Borough has not made a final decision and that the appraised amount could change through negotiations with the owner, or if that fails, by condemnation procedings, Mayor Cawley said residents can assume by this action that the Borough intends to acquire the land for recreational uses.

In a police committee report by Councilman Joseph Moore, William T. Clark of Yardville and John T. Reppey of Robbinsville were named as probationary patrolmen. They were selected from 83 applicants, from which an additional eight were placed on a waiting list for a year, including one woman, the next in line if a vacancy should occur.

A resolution was passed to extend the loop bus service to September 30, although no service will be provided during the slower months of July and August.

Twenty-four graduates of Stuart Country Day School of the Sacred Heart received their diplomas Friday in the traditional ceremony in the garden at the school.

Graduates and their parents began the day with a mass celebrated by the Rev. Michael J. Sheeran, S.J. of the Aquinas Institute. Since June 8 was also the Feast of the Sacred Heart, at the request of the graduates, the Religious Community renewed their vows of religious profession at the Mass. Following Mass, the graduates joined the Upper School students and their parents for Prize Day, the traditional time for awarding special honors to students in the 9th through 12th grades.

Formal graduation activities took place at 5 when the seniors gathered for the presentation of diplomas by Sister Judith Garson, the Headmistress. The invocation was given by the Rev. David Crawford of the Princeton Theological Seminary. The commencement address was delivered by Barbara Sigmund Baggs, former Stuart teacher and Borough Councilwoman, who was introduced by James J. Hughes, Jr., Chairman of the Advisory Board. Madame Margherita Candell, of Stuart Country Day School, gave the Blessing.

Alyson Flournoy and Vanessa Lucarella, class valedictorians, shared the President's prize from the Women's College Club of Princeton. Carolyn Crawford received the Faculty Award for outstanding contribution to the school. The Anniversary Award from the Women's College Club of Princeton was presented to Jacqueline Finney while the Bishop George W. Ahr Metal for Religion was given to Melissa Baggitt.

4 CASES FORWARDED

To Prosecutor's Office. The papers of four Princeton residents, who appeared in Borough Criminal court, were sent to the Mercer County Prosecutor's Office for further action.

They are Robin L. Everett, 20, 116 Leigh AVenue, charged with possession of a gravity knife; George W. Kornegay, 22, 246 John Street, charged with threatening a life and using loud and abusive language; and Gerald L. Hall, 18, 44 Birch Avenue and Larry Copper, 19, 16 Shirley Court. The latter two were each charged with breaking and entering and larceny.

Correction. Two weeks ago in listing a number of charges against William K. Blackburn, 47, 97 Mountain Avenue, TOWN TOPICS reported that he was found guilty on two charges of loud and abusive language and offensive language and obstructing and interfering. Mr. Blackburn was found not guilty on those two.

FLEA MARKET SET

For Morris Hall. The Morris Hall Health and Rehabilitation Center Women's Service Board will hold its fourth annual fund-raising flea market-fair on Saturday, when the driveways and lawns of the Center will be transformed into an old-time open air market. "Bargain hunters, antique aficianados, arts and crafts devotees, or anyone who simply enjoys browsing at an open-air flea market will surely be delighted with the 155 tables planned for this year's fair," Mrs. Arthur V. Appleget, Chairman, said in announcing the event.

Proceeds from the fair will be used to buy rehabilitation equipment for physical, speech and occupational therapy departments. Over the years the profits from the Flea Market have provided the hospital with very needed equipment. A special booth offering an elegant Madame Alexander Doll, complete with 50 hand-made outfits and a canopy bed as the prize will be run by Mrs. James Shelly.

Information on tables can be obtained from Mrs. Raymond Kuser by calling 393-2487. Free parking will be available at Rider College, just south of the Center on Route 206, with continuous shuttle bus service to the Flea Market.

There will be the "Merchants Mart" table, run by Mrs. W. Dudley Clark, which will have a wide variety of products and services donated by area merchants which will be offered for sale at below retail costs. An added attraction will be Grab-bags with surprise contents.

The hospital's Volonteers, headed by Mrs. Joseph S. Holland, will be assisting patients to prepare items for the Occupational Therapy Arts and Crafts table. Mrs. W.K. Power's table will feature strawberries in many ways--from strawberry shortcake to strawberry aprons and other novelties.

And as a carry-over of the recent Vegetable and Flower Plant Market Mrs. E. John Wherry will have 100 hanging plants on sale.

Hungry fair-goers will be served from "a whole tent of food" which is being planned by Mrs. John C. Dickinson and Mrs. Roland Formidoni. Take-home items can be purchased at the "Homemade Bread" Booth, where a large selection for bread connoissuers will be offered by Mrs. J. Fred Convery and Mrs. James Waldron. The Beverage Booth, which will feature soft drinks and beer, will have Mrs. Michael Bongiovanni as its proprietress.

Miss Jean Turano heads the financial committee. Other Women Service Board Flea Market Committee members are Mrs. D. Lea Haggerty, Mrs. Donald Bixby, Mrs. Bernie Butler, Mrs. Robert Murray, Mrs. Alexander J. Mraz, and Mr. Harry Corbin.

MEATLESS PICNIC SET

In Marquand Park. A "Picnic for a Small Planet" will give Princetonians a chance to dine al fresco on traditional Indian dishes Wednesday, June 18, in Marquand Park from 5 until sundown. The picnic will feature dishes from the vegetarian repertoire of Satyam Shivam Sundaram, a foundation for self-realization on Alexander Road.

Shyam Bhatnager, director of the foundation, said that the picnic was the foundation's response to the growing interest in cooking without meats. "More and more people are becoming aware of the world food crisis and want to help in some way," he said. "We Indians know a thousand ways to dine beautifully on non-meat dishes. We'd like to share that knowledge with the people who want to stop using more than their share of the world's food resources, but aren't quite sure they know how."

Cooking for the picnic will be done by Mr. and Mrs. Bhatnagar, his yoga students and members of the foundation. Reservations may be made by calling 924-4883. An adult dinner will cost $3.50, and children will be served for $1.50.

THE BEST NUMBER to call for classified advertising is 924 2200.

Florsheim® quality: before a pair gets to your feet they go through two hundred pairs of hands.

The Orleans in Wine, Gold, or Black Kidskin

It takes fourteen days, some two hundred hand operations, and over three feet of the heart of the hide to make a single pair of Florsheim shoes. Thirty-seven steps are required to sole each shoe—twenty-three to attach and finish the heels. Each heel is trimmed and sanded two times. Leather sole bottoms are buffed to a furniture-like smoothness; sole edges, too, are finished to a hard lustre. Only then are the five finishing coats of lacquer and waxes applied.

As a result you get better shoes. Better shoes at lower cost. As the world's largest buyer of fine leathers, Florsheim enjoys an advantage in the marketplace. Because Florsheim makes so many shoes, the company is able to take advantage of the many economies in volume production. Not only is Florsheim the world's largest selling brand of quality shoes, it still makes every pair as if it had something to prove. Stop in and let us show you what we mean.

Ford's Handling of Foreign Affairs Continues To Draw Downward Rating in State, Poll Shows

The New Jersey public's rating of President Ford's handling of the nation's foreign affairs continues to decline, according to the New Jersey Poll. The latest Poll, conducted by the Eagleton Institute of Rutgers University, finds that half (50 percent) of voting-age New Jerseyans disapprove of Ford's conduct of foreign affairs, while only about a third (36 percent) approve and the remainder (15 percent) have no opinion.

As shown in the following table, these figures mark a continuing decline since the previous New Jersey Poll in March, when New Jerseyans disapproved of Ford's conduct of foreign affairs by a slight margin:

"Do you approve or disapprove of the way President Ford has been handling the nation's foreign affairs.."

	May 1975	March 1975	January 1975	November 1974	September 1974
Approve	36%	37%	48%	48%	44%
Disapprove	50	40	28	25	19
No Opinion	15	23	25	27	37

"The effect of the dramatic events in Vietnam and Cambodia can be seen in these results," noted Stephen Chilton, Associate Director of the New Jersey Poll. People who feel that the recent events in Vietnam and Cambodia will have positive effects on the United States rate Ford higher than those who feel the effects will be negative.

President Ford's rating on his conduct of the economy has remained steady, with 31 percent approving and 54 percent disapproving. These figures are almost unchanged from the polls of last March and last January. Ford's overall evaluation is also unchanged from March and January, with 30 percent of New Jerseyans giving him a positive evaluation of "excellent" or "good", while 55 percent give him a negative evaluation of "only fair" or "poor."

"How would you rate the job Gerald Ford is doing as President–excellent, good, only fair, or poor.."

	May 1975	March 1975	January 1975	November 1974	September 1974
Excellent	3%	4%	4%	4%	4%
Good	27	27	26	32	34
Only Fair	46	44	44	42	33
Poor	19	21	17	12	9
No Opinion	5	4	10	10	20

"Ford's overall rating is more closely tied to his rating on the economy than to his rating on foreign affairs," Mr. Chilton noted. "This is probably why for the second time in a row his overall rating has remained steady despite the decline in his rating on foreign affairs."

New Jerseyans' rating of Congress' performance has returned to previous levels after dipping slightly in the March Poll. One in five (21 percent) say Congress is doing an "excellent" or "good" job, while three-quarters (74 percent) say it is doing "only fair" or "poor" and 5 percent have no opinion.

President Ford's rating is highest among Republicans, conservatives, people over 50 and residents of rural areas of the state, while Congress gets its lowest rating from these groups. On the other hand, Congress gets high marks from Democrats, liberals and city residents, while Ford's lowest ratings are among these groups.

The Sixteenth New Jersey Poll was conducted by telephone from the Eagleton Institute of Politics, Rutgers University, New Brunswick, between May 5 and 11. A scientifically selected random sample of 1005 New Jersey residents 18 years of age or over as interviewed.

FACT BOOK ISSUED

Informational Guide Published. A farmer and a soldier tell of the 1777 Battle of Princeton in the American Revolution Bicentennial edition of the "1976 Princeton Area Fact Book" issued by Lenhart Publishing Company, 353 Nassau Street. The information guide has been issued yearly by the Lenhart firm for nearly two decades.

Brief historical and current municipal facts for 17 incorporated communities of the Princeton area fill much of the guide book widely used by corporate and research facilities in the region for employee recruitment and for newcomers, according to R.L. Lenhart, publisher. Free distribution of copies is being made to several thousand homes in the area with compliments of some 140 advertisers and the publisher. Copies at $1 are on sale at various stores and at the Chamber of Commerce, 44 Nassau. Copies sent by mail cost $1.75 from the Chamber or Lenhart Publishing.

President Grover Cleveland, who is buried here, and Paul Robeson, who was born here, are the Princetonians featured in the biographical section. Interesting places described in detail include Bainbridge House, Marquand Park, Guernsey Hall, Palmer Square, Nassau Hall and the Princeton Medical Center.

Informational sections discuss transportation, recreation, the learning community, entertainment, news media and many other topics of interest to visitors, newcomers, tourists and hometowners who want to know more about Princeton and its historic neighbors.

The American Revolution Bicentennial section contains brief accounts of Colonial Princeton, the town's part in the battle for independence, its role as the young nation's capital in 1783 and a summary of the community's celebration plans for 1975-76. There are numerous photographs, drawings and a map of the Battle of Princeton. Princeton University's Nassau Hall is shown on a three cent postage stamp issued in 1956 to mark its own 200th year as the town's focal point.

Historical briefs and municipal data are given for the two Princetons, Hopewells, Windsors; Townships of Cranbury, Franklin, Lawrence, Monroe, Montgomery and South Brunswick; Boroughs of Jamesburg, Pennington and Rocky Hill.

President Cleveland, the only native New Jerseyan elected to the White House, lived his last dozen years here and is buried in Princeton Cemetery. His "Westland" home is described, as are the memorials at the Princeton Graduate School.

Born a minister's son on Witherspoon Street, Mr. Robeson enrolled at Rutgers, where he played baseball and twice was named as an All-American in football. Later, his artistic talents won him world fame as a singer and actor. At McCarter Theatre in 1942, he made a pre-Broadway appearance in Shakespeare's "Othello".

Former newspaper editor Donald L. Evans of Princeton edited the book for Lenhart. He is a freelance public relations writer.

SENIORS INVITED

To Picnic at Prospect. If you are one of Princeton's senior citizens, Landau's store on Nassau Street wants to hear from you.

Once again this year Landau's is sponsoring an afternoon of picnicing and partying for senior citizens. The date is Thursday, July 17, from 2 to 7 on the grounds of Prospect, formerly the president's house on the University campus. Transportation will be available.

In extending the invitation to this year's event, which will be called a "Senior Celebration," Robert Landau urged all senior men and women to register at the store. A telephone call any day from 9:30 to 5:30 will suffice. The number is 924-3494.

Mr. Landau hopes also that senior Princetonians who would like to provide entertainment--singing, dancing, and old vaudeville routine, or whatever--will notify him when they call to register.

In addition to the seniors own talents, other activities will include quiet and active games for men and women. Mr. Landau has croquet, bingo, shuffleboard, horseshoes, checkers and bocce already on the agenda. Any other suggestions are also welcomed at the same telephone number.

PROGRAMS SET

For Children at Library. To launch its series of summer programs for children the Public Library will present "Circus Town," a film for the entire family, on Wednesday evening, June 25, at 7:30. The 48 minute film will also be shown in the afternoon of that day at 3:30. Tickets for both performances are available at the children's desk.

Story hours for children ages 3½-5 begin Tuesday, July 1, at 1:30. Five half-hour programs, which will include readings and film strips, will be presented by Edith Kogan on consecutive Tuesdays.

Beginning July 7 at 7:30, John Counts will read to children ages 6 and up, and parents who would like to join them. The fifty-minute programs are scheduled for Monday evenings through July 30. No previous registration is required for either story series.

The Library's summer film festival for children ages 3½-6 starts on Wednesday, July 2, at 3:30. Children under 5 must be accompanied by an adult. The Films to be shown are: July 2, "Shout it Out Alphabet" and "The Isle of Joy;" July 9, "Simba in a Wimha" and "Peter and the Wolf;" July 16, "Anatole" and "Omega;" July 23, "The Foolish Frog" and "A Chairy Tale;" July 30, "The Story About Ping" and "Birds of the Seashore."

A new feature in July will be programs at 3:30 Thursdays for children 6 and older. Two art workshops are in the planning stages, and the following films are scheduled for alternate Thursdays: July 3, "Sailing" and "People Soup;" July 17, "Sky Capers" and "Isle of Joy;" July 31, "Geronimo Jones" and "A Study in Wet." No tickets are required for either film series.

A.F.S. EXCHANGE STUDENTS SAY GOODBYE: At a farewell party were Miriam Lewin, Janet Cook, Jorge Barquero, Amy Dunbar and Kenya Yamamoto. Greta Hutchinson was not present. Story this page.

PARTY HELD

For Departing A.F.S. Students. At a buffet supper at the home of retiring president, Mrs. William Besser, the Princeton Chapter of the American Field Service honored Jorge Barquero of Costa Rica and Kenya Yamamoto of Japan, who have spent this year at Princeton High and Princeton Day schools.

Also honored were students who have been chosen for the Americans Abroad program: from the High School, Miriam Lewin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lewin, 113 Magnolia Lane, who will spend the coming school year abroad; Amy Dunbar, daughter of Mrs. Lucinda Dunbar, 44 Maple Street, who will spend the summer in Colombia; and Janet Cook, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cook, 144 Sycamore Road, who is a finalist for the summer program; from PDS Greta Hutchinson, daughter of Mrs. Margaret Hutchinson, 46 Sturges Way, who will go to Peru for the summer.

The Princeton chapter will again be hosts to a bus trip of A.F.S. students who have spent the past year in other parts of the United States. Mrs. Frank Shoemaker announced that the bus will arrive on July 1, and the students will stay until July 5. Anyone interested in hosting one of more of these young people during their stay here should call Mrs. Shoemaker, 921-7599, or Mrs. William Frazier, 924-6369.

"Week of the Horse" in New Jersey Coincides With Father's Day, and Suitable Plans Evolve

All you ever wanted to know about horses but were afraid to ask—this is what you can learn from June 15 through June 22 when, as proclaimed by Governor Brendan T. Byrne, New Jersey celebrates its fourth annual "Week of the Horse."

The proclamation recognizes that the horse "Industry" is one of the most rapidly growing branches of New Jersey agriculture, contributing more than one-third of a billion dollars a year to the State's economy as well as providing jobs and preserving open space.

The observance begins on Father's Day, Sunday and provides an opportunity to do something different for father--take him on a tour of horse farms! He has his choice of Thoroughbred, Standardbred or Arabian, or better yet take him to all three. They are: Standardbred – Apt to Acres, Federal Road, Englishtown, Monmouth County. Time: 10 to 3. Thoroughbred -- Mairlands Farm, Rt. 513, Scobeyville, Monmouth County. Time: 10 to 3. Arabian – Pleasantview Farm, 1060 N. Maple Ave., Toms River, Ocean County. Time: 10 to 4. For directions, call 609-292-2888.

The week continues on Tuesday with a Ride-In for the benefit of the Easter Seal Society. It will take place on the Old Mine Road in Sussex County.

On Saturday, June 21, the biggest one-day horse show in the State will take place at Thompson Park in Jamesburg. Sponsored by the New Jersey Equine Advisory Board, a unit of the New Jersey Department of Agriculture, the New Jersey Bred All Breed Horse Show will begin at 8:30 a.m. and continue throughout the day.

Approximately 500 horses will compete in 115 classes with something to interest everyone as the classes range from jumping to driving to equitation. Also, 12 breeds will be participating giving the novice horse show spectator a rare opportunity to see and compare many different breeds.

The show is unique for two reasons: It is an opportunity to see the top quality horses for which New Jersey is becoming widely known as all entries must have been bred in the Garden State and it is the only show at which all the breeds recognized by the State can compete at the same time.

Secretary of Agriculture Phillip Alampi, long a supporter of the State's equine industry, will be present during the day as will Miss New Jersey Horse Industry. There is no charge and spectators are welcome.

The week comes to a close on Sunday, June 22, with a show that always lives up to its' title "The Goodtime Horse Show," which also takes place in Thompson Park. Sponsored by the American Saddlebred Breeders and Owners Association of New Jersey, it features the aristocratic Saddlebred, the versatile Morgan and the exciting Hunter Bred.

Known as one of the fastest moving shows in the State, it will begin at 8:30 and end at 5. Admission to this show is also free.

Hunger Crisis Worsens.
To the Editor of Town Topics:

National news coverage of the terrible hardship suffered in many parts of the world from famine and malnutrition has been considerably less in recent months than it was last year following the Bucharest and Rome population and food conferences.

The problems of chronic imbalance in the distribution of the world's food and the likelihood of severe long-term food shortages are not going to go away so quickly, however.

A small column on the front of a recent issue of the New York Times tells of new drought and famine conditions in Ethiopia which are even more devastating than those of 1973. Meanwhile, 50 percent of U.S. rice--"the world's most important staple crop"--continues to go into Rice Krispies, and pressure on world food markets increases more from the demands of the newly affluent nations than from those of nations so impoverished that they can do little but beg.

The community of Princeton has begun to respond to this complex global problem in a way which, happily, suggests that cynicism has not completely overtaken our collective will. Since last November a total of $27,954 has been sent from Princeton churches, individuals, and the university to a variety of famine relief agencies.

The totals have been traced and tallied by the Rev. William Kirby, Murray-Dodge Hall on the university campus, and any other groups, clubs or businesses, can send him news of their own collections, in order that this Princeton community total may grow, and grow visibly.

Concerned citizens can also now bring a collective political pressure to bear on where and how this country distributes aid abroad. They will be kept informed of pending legislation and votes about to be cast on this vital issue through the information network now forming under the name Political Hunger Action Network of Princeton.

If you wish to be a part of this network to influence our legislators toward a more humanitarian aid and development policy, call Mrs. Arthur Wagner of 24 Sturges Way, at 924-5630, after 5:30.

Lastly, Princetonians should be aware that the October CROP Walk for Famine Relief in this town raised almost $15,000, and that another walk is planned for the fall. All those who can help in its organization should come to Trinity Church, 33 Mercer Street, 8 p.m., Thursday, June 19th, for a first planning session.

Surely Princeton, of all communities, can respond with imagination and money in a pledge to ameliorate the pangs of the world's hungry.

JOAN FLEMING

University Plan Attacked.
To the Editor of Town Topics:

The Princeton Housing Group (PHG) supports the May 13, 1975 Borough Council Resolution opposing Princeton University's plans to demolish 65-67 Olden Street. While in number of units the destruction of housing is small, it is large in terms of what it implies.

Since there is already a housing crisis in town, no housing, and especially lower income units, can be destroyed without replacement. We urge the University, which has contributed to the local housing crunch by increasing enrollments and faculty size, allowing off-campus undergraduate living and attracting numerous firms and individuals to the area, to heed the Council's resolution and not destroy the pleasant and badly needed residences.

We also wonder if the University has fully explored redesigning the Mudd Library to avoid destroying this housing. And, if no other course but destruction is possible, we feel that the social and environmental costs of new housing units should be included in the Mudd Library's price and the University should be required to build new units before being permitted to demolish 65-67 Olden.

In related housing matters, PHG adds:

1. We feel Princeton University should be recognized for its decision to include 20 percent lower income housing in its plans for 600 units at its Forrestal Center. Will, however, even 600 units absorb the new demand for shelter which the Center will generate, or will the development's impact on the area increase the already acute housing shortage?

2. What plans does Princeton University have for the "area for many years designated for academic expansion" between the Main campus and the Engineering Quadrangle, and how will these plans effect housing on Olden, Williams and Prospect Streets?

3. What has become of the May 1971 pledge by University President Goheen that Princeton would take responsibility for "the construction of 1500 units of low- and middle-income housing to be available to the general public" to lessen the University's impact on the area housing market?

PRINCETON HOUSING GROUP

A Great Many Thanks.
To the Editor of Town Topics:

The June Fete was "A Great Fete". To the thousands of volunteers who gave of their time, talent and services, we are most appreciative and grateful. Fete day represents thousands of hours of effort and work for a most significant benefit, The Medical Center at Princeton.

Our special thanks to Princeton University for the use of the University fields and for its continued support and cooperation. To the municipal fire and police departments of Princeton Borough and Township and West Windsor Township; to the many other educational institutions of the community; to the news media; to the hundreds of merchants and businessmen of the area; to the churches, service clubs, unions and other organizations; to the Medical Center personnel; regional school employees, and to the many youth organizations, our heartfelt thanks.

In closing, our sincere thanks to TOWN TOPICS for its very complete coverage of "a Great Fete".

Channels 52, 58, 50 and 23 will televise the eighth annual Battle of Monmouth Parade and Muster on June 29 at 8 p.m.

CROSSING, a Bicentennial-Historic Musical, will be seen again this summer at the Open Air Theatre, Washington Crossing State Park, June 19, 20, 21, 26, 27, 28.

A suggested driving tour, packed with history, (which can be tailor-made to suit time and money) begins in Princeton, goes to Washington, then to Charlottesville, Virginia (Monticello, the home of Thomas Jefferson and Ash Lawn, the home of James Monroe and the University of Virginia) then to Richmond and Williamsburg, (including Jamestown, Yorktown, Carter's Grove). Return north by way of the Chesapeake Bridge Tunnel. With additional time, there's lots to see in the Wilmington, Delaware, area.

POSTERS DISPLAYED

From World War I. The First National Bank of Princeton is featuring a display of original World War I Patriotic Posters through June 27 during regular banking hours.

The display and supporting material is supplied courtesy of The Exhumation, an organization specializing in searching out paper antiques. The exhibit features some of the more prominent patriotic posters by such famous artists as Charles Dana Gibson and others.

When the first shots rang out in The Great War, the call to arms was immediate, and, in an age in which communications were limited to newspapers and periodicals, the poster came into its own as one of the most powerful weapons of the war. The gay frivolity of Art Nouveau advertising design was replaced with stark, often brutal images created by the era's greatest artists and illustrators.

Perhaps the most famous is James Montgomery Flagg's "Uncle Sam Wants You!" The determined figure in red, white and blue has remained an American symbol. The poster creations of Harrison Fisher, Howard Chandler, Christy, Joseph Pennell, L. A. Shaffer, Gerrit A. Beneker and other artists of the day show the power of these works to stimulate patriotism and nationale morale. Posters encouraged investment in liberty bonds and victory loans to the government, and they appealed on behalf of the Red Cross and other charities.

Lithographed by the thousands during the First World War, only a handful remain and are finding their way into museums and private collections. The poster may never again have such a heyday, but the artistry of these works is proof of the poster's place as a means of communication and as an artform and a permanent record of the will and determination of a country at war.

THE WAY IT WAS: One of the propaganda posters used to generate patriotic fervor during World War I. It is part of a display on view at the First National Bank.

PRESS DIRECTOR NAMED

Drorbaugh Heads Beacon Press. Wells Drorbaugh, Jr. of 92 Battle Road has been named director of Beacon Press in Boston.

He has been the publisher of Pyne Press in Princeton, having participated in the formation of the firm in 1970, and prior to that he was business manager of the Books Division of Conde Nast Publications, Inc. Beacon Press is operated under the auspices of the Unitarian Universalist Association.

STOCK REPURCHASED

By General Devices. John L. Smith, Jr., President of General Devices, Inc., a diversified manufacturing and engineering services company, has announced that the company and the estate of Leslie F. Shaw have entered into a stock repurchase agreement.

With stockholders' approval, the company will purchase from the estate 1,002,625 shares, or approximately 28.6 percent of common stock of GDI. The authorized stock of the corporation is 5,000,000 shares and the stock issued and outstanding is 3,509,145.

This agreement will reduce the outstanding shares to 2,506,520. General Devices has approximately 2200 stockholders and is traded on the Boston Exchange.

ACCOUNT ASSIGNED

To Ad Agency Here. Gillespie & Pavelec of Princeton Junction has been retained as the advertising agency for The National State Bank. National State is headquartered in Elizabeth and has offices throughout Mercer, Hunterdon, Middlesex and Union counties.

The agency will supply services to the Bank in the areas of broadcast, newspapers, magazines and direct mail advertising.

In the two years since its formation, Gillespie & Pavelec has acquired a number of clients including the Advertising Research Foundation; Citicorp Leasing, Inc., a division of First National City Bank; United Nations Fund for Population Activities; United States Military Academy; and others from Boston to Washington.

BANK OFFERS GIFTS

At opening in West Windsor. Kenneth Burkhead, President of the West Windsor State Bank, has announced that visitors to the bank's grand opening celebration on Saturday, June 28, will have a choice of free gifts for opening a new account or adding funds to an existing account.

Those depositing $200 can select a blanket, warming tray, baseball bat, bathroom scale or folding chair. Deposits of $1,000 will give depositors a choice of a putting cup, Corningware set, basketball or 5-year flashlight; $5,000 deposits, teflon cookware, flite bag, electric carving knife, or electric blanket.

In addition to the gift program, visitors to the West Windsor's new building will have a chance to try their luck in opening a treasure chest with a choice of gifts, receive a remembrance of the day and enjoy refreshments. On hand to greet visitors will be New York Giant star tight-end Bob Tucker and line-backer Steve Zabel of the Philadelphia Eagles. Children will be able to fill a penny bank and keep the pennies and bank as a gift. West Windsor State Bank is located on Hightstown Road, Princeton Junction.

News Of The CHURCHES

25 YEARS MARKED

Since Ordination. Father Thomas C. Ryan J.C.D., pastor of St. James Church, Pennington, and vice officials of the Diocese of Trenton and the episcopal vicar for Mercer County will celebrate a Mass of Thanksgiving Sunday at noon commemorating the 25th anniversary of Father Ryan's ordination to the priesthood. The public is invited to attend the Mass and the open house which will follow until 5 in the parish auxiliary building on Eglantine Avenue.

A native of Phillipsburg, Father Ryan prepared for the priesthood at St. Charles College, Catonsville, Md. and Immaculate Conception Seminary, Darlington. He was ordained in St. Mary's Cathedral, Trenton, by Bishop George W. Ahr.

After serving as associate pastor at St. James, Woodbridge, and St. Peter's, New Brunswick, Father Bryan matriculated at the Catholic University, Washington, D.C. and in 1954 was awarded a doctorate in canon law. He has been pastor of St. James since 1969.

MISSIONARY HERE

Speaks In Palmer Square. A young man named Ray Thompson with a message that "America needs the Messiah," has come to Princeton as a lay missionary with the Unification Church, a religious group founded by the Korean evangelist Rev. Sun Myung Moon.

Every day for 40 days Mr. Thompson is in Palmer Square speaking and teaching a series of ideas called "The Divine Principles" as revealed by Rev. Moon. These principles deal with the purpose of life, cause of crimes and restoration of the ideal purpose of human life.

Mr. Thompson says, "I believe in America and want to do something to make this a better country." His view is that although many say that America's problems are economic or political, the basic problem is spiritual. Americans don't understand themselves as individuals and have lost faith in God as well as in their country because of disloyalty, deceit and corruption prevailing in society.

Mr. Thompson likens America to Rome 2000 years ago; the country is in a time of chaos, confusion and transition. To solve the problems a great leader is needed who can win the hearts and cooperation of the people. Mr. Thompson says, "I believe America is prepared by God, and He is sending the Messiah to America." This time, Mr. Thompson adds, we must recognize and cooperate with the Messiah when he comes.

RESIDENTS ELECTED

To Board of New Bible School. Mercer Christian Academy, an elementary school opening in September, has announced the trustees elected at its first annual meeting. Elected to a three year term were Dr. Philip Baltzer, 536 Hosedale Road, a research physicist at RCA Sarnoff Laboratories; Edward Barclay, manager of Broad Street National Bank, Hamilton Avenue branch; and Mrs. Barbara Miller, housewife and educator.

Elected for a two-year term were Mrs. Stella Engstrom; Mr. John Guerard, owner and operator of the J. C. Guerard Co.; and Dr. Russ Kruppa, Chairman of the Industrial Arts Department at Trenton State College. The Rev. Leonard Norton, Assistant Pastor of Westerly Road Church, and the Rev. R. Wayne Wever, Assistant to the Executive Secretary of the Princeton Evangelical Fellowship, were elected for a one year term.

The school will open in the facilities of Central Baptist Church, Pennington Road, Trenton, and will provide education for children in grades K-5 in all of the subjects normally taught in public school but with a Christian perspective, totally integrated with Bible. Applications are now being accepted for 1975-76. Further information may be obtained from Mercer Christian Academy, P.O. Box 7299, West Trenton, 08628, by calling 799-1949 on weekday evenings.

BULLETINS

Princeton Baptist Church at Penns Neck will hold its Annual Community Bible School July 7-11 from 9 to noon. This year the bill of fare will include movies, music, and crafts. The school is open to pre-schoolers (age four through sixth graders at a cost of $1.50 per child, not to exceed $5 per family.

The Rev. Herbert Anderson, professor of pastoral theology at Princeton Theological Seminary, will conduct the service and be the guest preacher Sunday at the Prince of Peace Lutheran Church in the Maurice Hawk School on Clarksville Road, Princeton Junction.

MILLICENT FENWICK REPORTS

TO THE 5TH DISTRICT OF NEW JERSEY

BACK TO BUSINESS

As Recess Ends. The recess—which I voted against and don't think Congress should have taken—is over and we are back to the business we should have been considering: an energy bill, a strip-mining bill, and a voting rights bill. But, as always, a few days back in the 5th District is a rewarding and stimulating experience.

I made 16 speeches at the 20 meetings I went to during the eight days of the recess (not counting Sundays), but the question periods were as usual the best part of every meeting. That is when one learns what people are really interested in.

In some ways I found what I expected—the same puzzlement I feel myself as to what is really going on in the energy field. How do we reconcile the talk about an energy crisis with the evidence of our own eyes—the drop in gasoline prices from 50 plus cents per gallon to 40 plus on the highways?

Theoretically, we understand that we can't be subject to another embargo like the last one, with long lines of people waiting in the winter dark of early morning for a few gallons of gas, but are we convinced that the Ways and Means Committee's tax—or the President's—will really reduce consumption enough to make us independent, unless we develop more oil wells or alternate sources of energy supply? I don't think so.

The suggestion that roused the most enthusiasm was a simple one—why not use the tax money—if we must have a tax (and it should be rebated somehow to those who need a car to get to work)—to develop garbage-burning generating plants, or methanol as a gasoline substitute? (The latter was a suggestion of a scientist in the audience at Parsippany Troy Hills last Saturday.)

Alcohol and tobacco consumption have not been reduced by increasingly heavy taxes, so one wonders if that program would work to reduce the consumption of gasoline. If anything, I think all of us would be more satisfied to pay a tax, since both the House Ways and Means Committee and the Executive Branch have recommended a tax, if we felt that the revenue would be used to make us free of those threats from outside. At least that would be a practical and logical program. It was good to discover that the Ways and Means Committee bill, which had been withdrawn before we left for the recess, has planned along these lines, and I hope the final bill will, too.

The subject I had not expected to be questioned about was the "affair" in the House, just before the recess, when Rep. Wayne Hays and I had a disagreement about an appropriation bill for House expenditures. This had apparently been reported by the press and aroused interest in the district, so perhaps it would be wise to outline it briefly here.

In a large $689 million dollar appropriation bill proposed by the House Administration Committee of which Representative Hays is chairman, there was a $20 million increase in expenses for members of the House. Representative Armstrong of Colorado proposed an amendment cutting these increases out of the big bill, so they could be voted on separately. Rep. Hays rose to oppose the amendment and I rose to support it, feeling that we should not take this furtive, back-door method of increasing our emoluments, but, instead, stand up and justify what expenses were necessary, and be counted in the vote.

This was not a partisan issue. Many fine Democrats supported my position, and encouraged me to speak out. I was not arguing that the increased expenditures were not necessary—we had heard no debate or evidence as to whether or not they were—but I was strongly objecting to the fact that it was all done in a closed committee meeting, without public justification, buried in a big bill of which none of the expenditures were debated.

What was at stake? Twenty-six trips home for each Representative, increased from eighteen per year, with no need to produce ticket stubs or vouchers, and the right to take the cash for unused trips; extra staff, so that each member now can spend $227,000 instead of $205,000 for salaries; two free district-wide mailings a year, adding to the publicity each member already gets at public expense through franked mail privileges, increasing the advantage which Common Cause has drawn attention to, that every incumbent has over every would-be challenger.

But none of this came up in the floor debate. The amendment made no mention of these items. It merely cut them out of the rest of the bill, so that they could be separately considered. Neither did I make any mention of them—I said, in fact, that I was making no judgment as to the need for extra expense appropriations, but was objecting only to the method by which we were to obtain them.

The amendment was met by a threat to strip every Republican Committee member in the House of any Committee staff whatsoever—"and I have the votes to do it." Rep. Hays' remarks were expunged from the Congressional Record, but mine were not. (Here they are, verbatim:)

"Mr. Chairman, I did not expect and I am sure that many people in this Chamber did not expect, to be threatened or to hear threats on the floor when an amendment is offered in good faith in the hope that it will provide good government. I think we can say that we should vote on items that come before the House specifically. I think that is our duty.

"If we need more staff and more money, more and higher salaries, I think we should be prepared to say so, and vote for them. I think that is what representative government is all about.

"But I certainly do not think that a minority, because it is indeed a small minority, should be threatened with loss of a proper proportion of the committee staffs as we have been by the gentleman in the well. As he said, he has the vote to do it. I do not think that many people in this House, certainly the reform-minded Members, those who were elected on reform tickets, can be happy, if that is how the Government of the United States is going to be run.

"And may I speak to those Members of this House of the fine, old tradition, who have been here a great deal longer than I have. I am sure that is not what they expect to hear in this Chamber. I am new here, but I have been in the legislature.

"I am not unaccustomed to the parliamentary process. I think we have heard here something today for which we are all going to be sorry and ashamed."

It was sad that the amendment was defeated 262 to 148, but, significantly, it was not a partisan vote, 39 Democrats joining 109 Republicans in support of it.

And this brings one to the final and most important point revealed by the District meetings: the mistrust of Congress and all government, Federal and State--on the part of the public. How can we wonder at it, when those who call themselves public servants behave this way? The argument used was that the sums are small in comparison to a deficit of 60 or 70 billion dollars. But that's not the point. There must be a principle of open dealing and recorded voting when the public's money is involved. What was done might have proved necessary and right—although I doubt if all of it could have been justified--but the method was furtive and shoddy.

Frederick J. Singer, Jr., 55, of 51 Red Hill Road, died May 31 in the Princeton Medical Center. He was the manager of the Rug Mart Floor Company.

An Army veteran of World War II, he was born in Watertown, N.Y. and moved to Princeton 23 years ago. One of the founders of the Princeton Midget Football League sponsored by the Princeton PBA, he was also a former scout master of Boy Scout Troop 56. He was a past member of American Legion Post of Watertown and was a member and instructor of the National Archery Association.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Josephine W. Singer; two sons, Frederick J. 3rd., of Levittown and Craig G. at home; two brothers, Charles Singer of Alexander Bay, N.Y. and Harold Singer of Watertown; four sisters, Mrs. William Ewing of Watertown, Mrs. Manford Dale of Great Bend, N.Y., Mrs. Joseph LaForest of Cold Brook, N.Y., and Mrs. Martin Schneider of Watertown; and one grandchild.

A private service was held at the Mather Funeral Home, with burial in Princeton Cemetery. Contributions may be made to the Coronory Care Unit of the Princeton Medical Center.

TOWN TOPICS is delivered without charge to every home in Princeton Borough and Township and to part or all of West Windsor, Lawrence, Hopewell, Montgomery, South Brunswick and Franklin Townships and Griggstown. At all newsstands, including TOWN TOPICS' office, it costs 15 cents

but at country antiques

can you find

A collection of Jessie Willcox Smith books, a 1918 poster by the same artist, and some comparable examples of books illustrated by Elizabeth Shippen Greene. A fine assemblage of pitchers, or should we say cream jugs? Minton, Royal Doulton, Wedgewood, mocha, Sprig, King's Rose, Adam's Rose, Spatter, to mention only a few.

A Steuben vase, Princeton University seal incised thereon. Nice wedding gift! In pristine condition, in original chamois and barks.

A music cabinet, sometimes called a Canterbury. Period 1790. Very minor repairs, done long ago, original brasses. Several children's good chairs, including club, wicker, and bentwood highchair. A very superior long-sleeved white dress, about 1910. Fine batiste and lace. Suggests Newport 1910, or future garden wedding.

"ARCHITECTURE IS FROZEN MUSIC"

Nature created the setting, architect and owners, the house; and together they composed an impressive symphony! Set on a stunning four acre hillside and set off by its many rugged boulders and towering trees, the house was designed to flow with the land. Large areas of bronze tinted glass take advantage of breathtaking outlooks to south and west, small intimate balconies and protective "play decks" bring inside and outside together. Views are everywhere.

The house is spacious—with a living room whose ceiling soars almost three stories high, and six or seven bedrooms situated for the ultimate in privacy for parents and guests—yet intimate and warm in its use of materials, color and scale. Throughout the house, from superb kitchen, tasteful baths, dressing rooms, numerous closets, two zone air conditioning to the smallest detail, only the best has been used. This is a home to enthrall all admirers of fine contemporary design. $265,000

SWEET HOUSE FOR A SWEET FAMILY

A small house that is appealing, clean (newly painted throughout), all on one floor and in a nice Western Borough location within walking distance of town is not easy to come by, but here it is! Pretty living room with fireplace flanked by bookshelves; dining end with built-in shelves; compact kitchen with new stove; wee study and/or guest room with adjoining full bath, two bedrooms and second bath -- it all adds up to a perfect home for one or two people. The lot, too, is small, easily maintained and in need only of some sprucing up to make it a charmer $59,500

APPEALING AND ACCESSIBLE

Cute, cozy and convenient — these are the most appealing attributes of this new Borough listing. Pretty living room with big bay window (a perfect setting for decorative house plants), dining room; drop-down enclosed heated porch (with bookshelves added, a good study); smallish kitchen (but one that provides eating space and meets the needs of a gourmet cook); three bedrooms and 1½ baths — all are compact enough for easy care but big enough for small family comfort. Added assets are a big screened porch overlooking a swimming pool sufficiently screened by summer greenery for skinny dipping! The location is a nice one — a pleasant street without heavy traffic but within walking distance of Riverside School, the University and the busline. $72,500

FAIRWAY DRIVE

This spic and span and spacious Thompson designed Colonial has happily housed a family of boys, and it looks as if it had never been inhabited! The first floor —— entrance hall looking through to sunny breakfast room with glass doors opening on the flagstone patio; big living room with bow windows complete with seats; secluded paneled library with handsome bookshelves, pretty dining room with wide glass windows, superb kitchen, completely equipped and attractive with dark wood cabinets and white formica counters, large paneled family room with fireplace and fine bookshelves, and powder room —— is beautifully planned for easy flow, living and entertaining. Five fine bedrooms, three baths, "pantry" with 80 running feet of shelf space, excellent closets, big dry basement for play, laundry, work and storage, central air-conditioning, wall-to-wall carpeting throughout; attached 2 car garage with storage space; and a screened porch overlooking the well-treed 2 plus acres, complete with rustic 'bird cover," round out the attractive essentials and extra assets of this comfortable, pristine and roomy new listing. Asking $178,500

COME ON IN, THE WATER'S FINE

and the living is easy in this nice Township house with its glass doors opening on a big redwood deck overlooking the pretty pool. The split level house, treated in an unusual and interesting way, offers a good-sized living room, excellent kitchen with butcher block counter tops and a spacious eating area, which could be walled off for a separate dining room, 4 bedrooms (or 3 and a family room), 1½ baths. In a child-filled area close to schools and shopping $69,500

IF YOU ACT BEFORE JULY 4!

Here's a once-in-a-lifetime deal that you can't afford to pass up! For the next 3 weeks, Cambridge Hall is running a special sale that can save you as much as $5745 in discounts and U.S. government tax credits. Think of it! If you act now, you can have that condominium-apartment home you've always dreamed of. And, for the first year, your costs will be close to nothing - thanks to a $1945.00 U.S. government tax credit in addition to the regular deductions for interest and taxes you would normally make.

Sound like an outright gift? Well, it is. The government and Lehigh Construction have decided simultaneously that this is the time for you to make your move! So don't fight it - join it. And start living the good life at the maintenance-free, luxury-oriented Cambridge Hall, complete with swimming pool, "pub-room", saunas and a host of recreational extras.

Shown here is the Canterbury model, but we have an entire range of condos ranging from 1 bedroom—1 bath models to 2 bedroom and den—2 bath models. All at the most prestigious new address in Ewing Township. See them this weekend while this great offer is still on.

EXCEPTIONAL VALUE

In the Princeton Western Section

Situated on a beautiful hillside now in bloom in Princeton's Parkside Drive section is a lovely colonial split that offers you one of the best values in a moderately priced home in the Princeton Western section. Inside, is a living room with raised hearth fireplace suitable for entertaining on a grand scale, a cheerful dining area, and a delightful eat-in kitchen with pine cabinets in the colonial tradition. Just a few steps away is a rustic knotty pine family room and a downstairs powder room and laundry room. Upstairs, are three cheerful and spacious bedrooms and one and a half baths. Tastefully decorated throughout and overlooking natural open space with Stony Brook close at hand for a peaceful woodland walk! Need we say more than to remind you of the three most important factors in real estate: location, location, location! Can you afford not to move into this incomparable setting with all of the wonderful advantages of living in Princeton.

In Princeton: For an Imaginative Young Architect

It could be a beautiful huge mansion were it not for the fact that it is presently used as apartments. But if joined with the heated workshop in the rear, it could be a 2,500 square foot plus residence with income possibilities above. Or it could just be a great investment as an apartment house. But, either way you should see it to believe it at this price. $72,500

A Great Place for a Family in Princeton

Situated on a beautifully wooded corner lot within easy walking distance of all three of Princeton's schools is this excellent three bedroom home with plenty of room for family activities, inside and out. It has a nifty living room with picture window, a separate formal dining room, and a neat family room just a few steps away from the kitchen. Upstairs, are three comfortable bedrooms and a bath, while outside, is a lovely, large in-ground pool for summer entertaining. Live in Princeton at its best beside your own pool, and let the children walk to all the wonderful activities Princeton has to offer. $65,000

In Sleepy Hollow: Near Pike Brook Country Club

Few homes near Pike Brook Country Club offer so much in colonial charm and variety as this Firestone two-story colonial located in Sleepy Hollow. From the plushly carpeted living room with massive picture window to the elegant dining room with chair rail one senses the possibilities for formal entertaining. Yet, from the neatly decorated eat-in kitchen to the conveniently placed family room with raised hearth and adjacent professionally landscaped patio, there is a sense of easy living near a fine country club. Upstairs, are four comfortable bedrooms, including a master suite. Perhaps you'd better see it soon. $74,500.

No. It's Not on Prospect Avenue!

But it is brick and ivy and it is surrounded by a magnificent future park that will offer more recreational possibilities than you can imagine. Inside the ivy covered walls is a welcoming foyer, a pleasant living room, dining room with chair rail, a spacious modern eat-in kitchen with neat colonial cabinets, and a study or downstairs bedroom with a full bath. Upstairs, are four comfortable bedrooms, two large and two small. Outside on the acre plus lot are pear trees, cherry trees, numerous other fruit trees and even wild raspberries and a pumpkin garden. Just listed, so be the first to see it by calling us. $55,000

LISTINGS NEEDED, BUYERS WAITING!

"HIGHFIELDS FARM"
Goat Hill Road
West Amwell Township

(George Washington never slept here...it was booked solid by the time he arrived!)

Steeped in the historic tradition of the Delaware Valley, dating back to years before the American Revolution, here is a choice spot high on a famous hill with a sometimes view of the river, and completely isolated from its neighbors. Within a short distance of Lambertville and Bucks County, twenty-four minutes to Princeton, and commutable to New York via Trenton or Hopewell, this property boasts everything near and dear to lovers of authentic STONE colonials:

Slate and tin roofs, wide window wells, walk-in fireplaces, brick kitchen floor, cozy rooms, quiet nooks, random pine floors, small window panes, yet with all modern conveniences.

Four bedrooms, three baths, two parlors, library, conversational kitchen, and utility room complete the main house. A frame barn in very good repair features a heated studio room, carriage shed, and a four-room apartment ideal for guests or income!

Just the right amount of land...thirty-eight acres enchance the property with meadows, pastures, brook and woods. It's one acre minimum residential with approximately 1300 feet of frontage. Taxes are just a wee bit above two thousand dollars!

Please call for an appointment and walk back into history with us to a time when houses were houses and people enjoyed tranquility.

The experts tell us that all matter, animate or inanimate, must have rest, or it gets "out of order". Accidents may occur, the whole organism may slow down or even stop completely. If you pride yourself on how much you can do without rest periods, you show that you are unable to think constructively about what your body needs. Every activity calls for a corresponding period of rest. Take a long night's bed rest in the quiet and privacy of your own room. You will be amazed at how the world will brighten.

Wilbur Young, Retiring as Controller, Ending Forty Years of Service to Princeton University

Wilbur M. Young, who retires this month as Princeton University's controller, remembers when there was no withholding tax and no social security payments, either. This was the climate in 1935 when Mr. Young first came to Princeton University as an accountant.

As a 22-year-old fresh out of Rossville, Ill. and the University of Illinois, he worked for the Bureau of Student Employment and for the Bursar's Office. From '38 to '41 he was assistant to the bursar. The vocational trail then led him to assistant controller, associate controller and, in 1961, to controller.

In 1961, disbursements for expenditures at Princeton University ran around $45 million; the market value of endowment was some $200 million; and the payroll involved about 3,000 persons. Fourteen years later, as he retires, the comparable figures are something like $107 million, $400 million, and 4,500 employees.

The controller's office is responsible for the collection of funds owed the University, including student accounts and loans. It bills the Federal government and collects from it the funds to support research programs; handles disbursements; maintains the University's financial records; and prepares the annual financial report.

When he came, with the exception of one old bookkeeping machine, everything was done by hand.

Computers Take Over. The 40 years have brought challenges and growth. There have been three major revisions of the University's accounting system, and today nearly everything is computerized. The office keeps 60 employees busy.

Mr. Young will be succeeded by Raymond J. Clark, now Associate Controller, who joined the University's administration two years ago after serving as Director of Budget Preparation for the Federal government's Office of Management and Budget in Washington, D.C.

MORE TIME FOR GARDENING: Wilbur Young retires this June as controller at Princeton University, his only employer in 40 years.

Commenting on Mr. Young's retirement, President William G. Bowen, said, "The end of an era in the University's financial affairs will occur when Bill Young steps down as controller – after 40 years of dedicated service to Princeton. His many valuable contributions, not just to this University, but to the entire field of college and university business management, will be missed by all of us."

Mr. Young has been active in the National Association of College and University Business Officers and was a member of a pilot study conducted by that group in the 1950s which established the principles of determining costs of government research projects at universities. These became the guidelines which are still in use today. For a number of years he was also on the association's Committee on Government Relations.

Active Methodist. Active for many years in the work of Princeton United Methodist Church, including 10 years as its treasurer, Mr. Young also has been secretary of the Princeton Chapter of the Society Sons of the Revolution, State of New Jersey; treasurer of the troop committee of Princeton Boy Scout Troop 88; a member of Springdale Golf Club (and a tournament winner there in years gone by), the Nassau Club and the Princeton Rotary Club.

He married in 1934 his high school sweetheart, the former Thelma Clem, a singer, who in addition to helping raise four children has found the time to sing in the Methodist Church choir for years, serve more than a decade on the Princeton University Concerts Committee (including two years as president), six years on the Princeton School Board (including three years as president), and work as an administrator at Miss Fine's School.

Two Young sons, William, now deceased, and Steven, an English professor at Pomona College, both graduated from Princeton University (William in 1958 and Steven in 1960). William returned to Princeton after service in the Navy for an M.F.A. degree in 1966 and Steven went on to a Ph.D. at the University of California (Berkeley).

A daughter, Mrs. Sarah Jane Sharaf of Princeton, is a graduate of the University of Illinois and also obtained her master's degree there. She presently works in Princeton's Admissions Office.

A second daughter, Mrs Mary Elizabeth Bragado, graduated from the University of Michigan and subsequently earned a master's degree in education there. She is now doing advanced work in music at Ohio State, where her husband directs the university orchestra.

They live on a wooded lakeside lot at 16 Maclean Circle which offers the soon-to-retire controller an incentive to tinker in a workshop, to build a 14-foot sailboat, to do some bird watching. The couple enjoy visits to, and from, their eight grandchildren, and to Mr. Young's mother, now living in Medford.

During World War II, Young, like many others, left his post at Princeton long enough– four years– to serve his country, teaching tactics to field artillery units at Ft. Sill, Okla., and, later, landing in Japan as part of the Army of Occupation.

Since then, he and his wife have traveled the other direction, too, to Europe, this time visiting a French girl who had lived with the Youngs for a year as an American Field Service exchange student.

Knight Ending Career as Manager Of Playhouse, Garden Theatres

THE LAST PICTURE SHOW: When Richard W. Knight's resignation as manager of the Princeton Playhouse andd Garden theatres becomes effective Friday, it will mark the end of a job that began almost exactly 22 years ago on June 15, 1953.

News Of The THEATRES

A career in theatre management that began as an usher in New York's famous Roxy Theatre will end this week for Richard W. Knight.

Mr. Knight's resignation as manager of the Princeton Playhouse and Garden theatres is effective Friday. He has served in that capacity since June 15, 1953.

Recently, management of the theatres was assumed by the Sameric chain and Mr. Knight commented, "It's time to give someone else a crack at it."

He was quick to point out, however, that he is not retiring. He remains secretary of Palmer Square, Inc., which operates the two theatres and, after a vacation, Mr. Knight said that he will return in August to work for PSI in another capacity.

Work to Be Done. As for that vacation, Mr. Knight says he won't have any trouble finding things to keep busy. He plans to visit friends (his wife, Mildred, died several years ago) and do a lot of work around his home in Penns Neck that he has been putting off.

"I guess evenings will be the hardest thing to get used to," he said, after having spent most of his previous 8,.000 closing up after the end of the final feature.

A native of Middletown, N.Y., Mr. Knight graduated in 1939 from Duke University where he specialized in business management. At Duke, he took a post-graduate course in theatre management and soon became attracted to drama productions and film centers.

Jobs were hard to find then, he recalls, so he became an usher at the Roxy. Between 1942-46, he served in the Army and then resumed his career as a supervisor for playhouses and theaters in Connecticut and New York. He was manager of the New Canaan Playhouse.

Playhouse Opened in '38. When he was 36, he was asked to come to Princeton to succeed the ailing Charles P. Winkelmann, who had served as manager of the Playhouse since its opening in December, 1937. "There aren't too many theatres in the country 38 years old that have had only two managers in their history," said Mr. Knight rather proudly.

In that time there have been thousands and thousands of pictures. Does he see each one?

"I used to see every one but after 35 years you get to be selective." Mr. Knight said that he does view fragments of each to make sure the quality of the film is in good condition, "but I don't watch it all the way through unless it appeals to me."

He conceded, when asked, that he doesn't enjoy watching films as much as he once did. "The element of escapism is gone in most of them," he observed. "What you see today are mostly other peoples' problems."

Three Favorites. As for his own personal favorites, he picked "That's Entertainment", "How To Succeed In Business Without Really Trying," and "Summer of '42."

The latter, incidentally, holds the longevity record at the Playhouse. "It ran for seven weeks," Mr. Knight recalled, "and the film that replaced it didn't do well so we brought 'Summer' back for another week."

That record will be broken this month. Mr. Knight reported that the film of Peter Benchley's best-selling novel, "Jaws" will open at a 12-week run here, starting June 20.

"Murder on the Orient

Knight Looks at Changing Film Industry

Are films changing? "You know they're changing; it isn't at all like it was when I started out," says Richard Knight.

One of the biggest changes and one that the audience never sees, according to Mr. Knight, is the bidding between competitors to show certain films. Now a theatre often has to agree to show a film a certain number of weeks.

As an example, Mr. Knight cited the Prince on Route 1, which had to agree, he said, to show "Funny Lady" at both its theatres for seven weeks. After 13 weeks, Barbra Streisand is still at one of them.

An article in "Variety" described the terms of bidding for a new film, "Lucky Lady." Producers want as much as $250,000 up front and a minimum 12-week engagement.

The Playhouse itself had to agree to a long run to obtain an exclusive in this area for "Murder on the Orient Express." That represents a sharp change from the time not too many years ago when the theatre used to show two movies every week, from Sunday through Tuesday and Wednesday through Saturday.

The Playhouse and Garden were simply not able to compete with the chains in bidding-- one reason given by Mr. Knight, why Princeton University, the main stockholder in Palmer Square, Inc., which operates the two theatres, let the Sameric chain take over film selection.

"I don't blame them," said Mr. Knight, who predicted the change would mean better movies for the Princeton area film-goer.

THOUGHTS AFTER REUNION TIME

In a small hotel in Princeton, reunion and graduation are busy times. Room reservations are made months in advance, some by friends who have been here many times during their students four year career, some by strangers who have just discovered that there aren't enough rooms in town to house all the graduates' parents. We generally enjoy these parents, these contemporaries.

But the people we love are our reunion guests. We generally get men who have passed their fiftieth anniversary, who come back each year in a kind of contest of will power. They are feisty, intense, zestful, dominant men; often with great self possession and calm. They are moderate and thoughtful men; their wives are caring and cared for. They are nice people.

Each of us is better off for having known well some aged person. Our personal lives have been enriched by having as our house guest for years our friend Ernest Foster, well known to many Princetonians. On July 8 Mr. Foster will be 97; still alert, writing letters, reading, enjoying the well landscaped acreage where he resides; and like all of us still responding to friendship. He has many of the character traits above, and is a gentle man. Write him a card or letter:

Mr. Ernest Foster

Express" was the biggest grosser at the box office, but it was also the most expensive to run. (See box). "We made very little profit on it," said Mr. Knight.

The Student Body. As manager of the Playhouse, in addition to all his bookwork and advertising duties, Mr. Knight had to contend with one other dimension: the Princeton University student, who, he estimated, one time made up as much as 40 percent of the audience.

On occasion the noise and comments of the students, while amusing to some, have been annoying to others, but Mr. Knight maintains there were never any serious incidents at either the Playhouse or Garden. "Streakers we get every year."

Well, yes, there was one incident during the filming of Elvis Presley's first film, "Love Me Tender," in 1956.

The college contingent had been more boisterous than usual during one performance, forcing Mr. Knight to stop the film "As I walked down the aisle toward the stage to lecture them," he said, "They shouted, 'Here comes Elvis!' and started to throw rolls of toilet paper at me."

With his usual aplomb, he was able to restore order– the same aplomb and efficiency that has marked his career as manager of the Playhouse.

CABARET TO OPEN

In Nassau Inn. The Inn Cabaret, a new weekly musical and comedy revue, will open its doors for a gala preview on Friday, June 20, at 9:30 and 11:30 in the Ships Room of the Nassau Inn. Regular performances will start Friday, July 4, with two shows planned every Friday through August 8.

Daniel F. Berkowitz, executive director of Summer Intime in 1974 and creator of SI's Midnight Cabaret, will be overall director, with Mildred Goldberger and Kay Kuhn serving as general managers. Joanne Mohrman, president of the Princeton Community Players, is production manager.

The idea of a cabaret had been "kicking around for quite awhile among some townspeople", according to Mr. Berkowitz, "people who were not only performers and musicians, but also writers. They felt there was an audience for this kind of a show, but they also felt they needed a professional manager to get it off the ground."

After the success of last year's Midnight Cabaret, Mildred Goldberger, a leader of the town group and herself a scenario-writer for Shelley Berman, Mike Nichols and Elaine May in their Compass Theatre days, approached Mr. Berkowitz and suggested they join forces to make the cabaret an on-going venture.

"The response has been fantastic", said Mr. Berkowitz. "So many people have been enthusiastic that we decided to go ahead with a trial cabaret this summer, and if it catches on, to consider making it a year-round thing."

Auditions this Sunday. Plans call for the preview on June 20 (shows at 9:30 and 11:30), followed by a six-week 'mini-season' starting two weeks later. The cabaret will feature a different hour-long music and comedy show each Friday, with performances at 9:30 and 11:30 in the Ships Room, right off the lobby of the Nassau Inn in Palmer Square. The room will open a half-hour before each show, and a cash bar is available. Tickets to the performances cost $2 and will be available at the door.

News of the Theatres

Among the people already signed up as performers, musicians, writers, and staff are a number of familiar PJ & B, Intime, and McCarter faces, including Don Boroson, Leila Cannon, Dave Dingle, Liz and Steve Fillo, Joan Gallos, Kinny Gallup, Cynthia Gooding, Nat Hartshorne, Joce Helm, Ann Judson, Joan Lucas, Rita McDowell, and Laird and Reid White.

The preview is already in rehearsal, but open auditions for the six-week 'mini-season' will be held on Sunday from 8 to 10 in the Ships Room. Anyone interested in working with the cabaret as a singer, musician, actor, writer, or general helper is invited to attend.

DIRECTORS SOUGHT

By Community Players. The Princeton Community Players want to hear from potential stage directors. The theatrical organization wishes to enlarge its pool of directors from this area.

Anyone with directorial experience who is interested should write to the Players' president, Mrs. Joanne Mohrman, at 38 Carter Road, submitting a resume of his experience and a list of plays he would like to direct.

All correspondence looking toward the 1975-76 season must be received by Mrs. Mohrman by July 15. As the Community Players is a non-profit organization, directors ordinarily receive no remuneration beyond personal expenses.

A similar talent search conducted a year ago brought the Players two directors who staged successful shows in the past season: Judith Forusz, who directed "A Thousand Clowns," and Kimothy Cruse, director of "And Miss Reardon Drinks a Little."

Former directors as well as newcomers are invited to submit the names of plays they are interested in doing.

AN EVENING OF DANCE

At YWCA. The Jua Dance Group of the YWCA will give a dance presentation at the YW on Friday at 7:30 in the gymnasium.

The group has been with the YWCA for the past three months under the direction of Faith Brown and Carolyn Liverman. It will perform ethnic and modern dances with poetry, music and the beat of the drums. Donation, $1.

CHILDREN'S PLAYS SET

Auditions Scheduled. Creative Theatre Unlimited has announced the formation of a Children's Theatre Company with two productions planned for performance in July, August, and September. "This company is an exciting new venture for Creative Theatre," said Managing Director Pat Cline.

"We plan to bring a repetoire of children's plays to the community and give young people of all ages a living theatre experience. We decided to form a children's Theatre Company based on the enthusiastic response from the community to our 1974 fall production of Many Moons."

The new ensemble company will present traditional theatre pieces as well as audience participation plays that invite children to respond open and freely to the actors.

The season will begin with a performance of "You, Alice and Me," an original adaptation based on the adventures of Alice and other childhood fantasies. Actors, singers, dancers and musicians are invited to audition for Alice on Wednesday and Thursday, June 18 and 19, at 10:30 a.m. at the C.T.U. Studio, 33 Mercer Street. These auditions are open to all children and adults in the community.

Technical assistance will be needed in the area of costumes, props, set construction and stage management. Rehearsals will be held weekday mornings from 9:30 to 12:30. Productions will be available to tour communities, day camps, recreation programs and schools in the Central Jersey area.

Amie Brockway will direct the two summer and fall productions. A graduate in theatre arts from the State University of New York at Purchase, Ms. Brockway has extensive experience teaching acting techniques to adults and young people. She is the founder of Street Theatre and directed C.T.U.'s first summer program which led to performances in the Princeton parks and library.

For information on performance rates and schedules contact Creative Theatre Unlimited, 33 Mercer Street, 924-3489.

CAST SOUGHT

For Street Theatre Production. Humphrey Bogart is one of the cast in Woody Allen's "Play It Again Sam," to be presented by Princeton's Street Theatre the last two weekends of July. Street Theatre is holding open auditions for "Play It Again Sam" on Tuesday, June 17 and Wednesday, June 18 from 7-10 at the Dorothea House on Avalon Place.

The cast includes three men and six women. One of the parts is that of Bogart in the guise of an authority on charming the opposite sex who assists the otherwise unsuccessful lead in the play, portrayed by Woody Allen on Broadway and in the movie. Rehearsals will be Sunday through Thursday nights from 7-10.

Everyone is encouraged to try out, especially those who are very proud of their Bogart imitations. No preparation is required– just come ready to read. Anyone interested in helping on a technical crew is welcome to sign up at the audition times.

COURSES STILL OPEN

At Studio Theatre. Registrations are still being accepted for summer courses with The Studio Theatre. Daytime classes are being offered in Acting, Improvisation, Movement and Creative Dramatics for students from 8 to adult. There will also be evening workshops for adults on Mondays and Tuesdays.

The courses are designed for the amateur, drama teachers and future professionals. The instructors, Anne W. Scurria and David F. Eliet, believe the ultimate value of the courses lie in the sense of self-discovery work of this type can offer the individual. For further information and a brochure, call 359-4341 or 359-2844.

MONTGOMERY

Breakout. The image of Charles Bronson will be further solidfied by this film.

Cast as a barnstorming helicopter pilot who engineers a daring escape of an American millionaire imprisoned in a Mexican penitentiary, Bronson brings it off with his characteristic aplomb. What is new and pleasantly surprising is the ingratiating comic touches he adds to his performance.

The film was reportedly based on a true incident, and readers of recent newspapers are aware that an inmate in a Michigan prison was wisked away by a commandeered helicopter just a few days after the film had been shown in that prison's theater.

There are two standout supporting performances by Randy Quaid, Bronson's likeable-shnook sidekick, and Sheree North, a dirty-minded hairdresser, both recruited by Bronson to divert prison guards from the rescue attempt.

PLAYHOUSE

The Return of the Pink Panther. Peter Sellers repeats his role of the inspired comic creation Inspector Clouseau for the third time in "The Return of the Pink Panther." It's a joy to have him back.

As Sellers fans know, Clouseau is a bumbling French sleuth who can't walk down the street without turning the pavement into one long banana peel. His ineptitude triggers a dizzy succession of slapstick shenagagans and silly sight gags. In its almost total reliance on chaotic visual comedy, the film has the manic energy of a cartoon.

The threadbare plot is nothing more than a framework for the slapstick set-pieces. In this one, Clouseau is in pursuit through France, Switzerland and Morocco of The Pink Paother, a priceless stolen gem.

Even when the humor starts to strain, however, director Blake Edwards's genuine affection for the lost art of slapstick is felt throughout, illuminating the film with a warm, disarming spirit.

Special praise is due the insurance company willing to underwrite Sellers's spectacular pratfall in the kitchen of a Japanese restaurant stacked with dishes.

Youth Help Needed

Are you young and full of volunteer spirit?

You're needed to help with the new "Summer Sounds" music program to be launched in town this summer. Three of the concerts are geared to youth.

Youth volunteers are needed to handle publicity, to deal with whatever handbill distribution the sponsors decide on, to work out transportation arrangements for people who need rides, and for other jobs that may turn up as the summer moves on.

Volunteers may call Denise King at the Recreation Department, 921-9480.

WANT EXTRA INCOME? A temporary or part-time job may be the answer. Read the Help Wanted ads in this issue of TOWN TOPICS for a varied selection of opportunities open to you.

FESTIVAL WEEK SET

At Choir College. The second annual Art Song Festival Week, featuring such internationally acclaimed artists as Phyllis Curtin, Janice Harsanyi and Gerard Souay, will be held on the campus of Westminster Choir College from Sunday through Friday.

Evening recitals and daily master-classes will be given by visiting singers, Westminster voice faculty and festival participants. Phyllis Curtin, one of America's most sensitive song interpreters, will open the week with a recital of American song on Sunday evening. Miss Curtin will perform works by such leading American composers as Aaron Copland, Ned Rorem, and Ryan Edwards. Mr. Edwards will also be the accompanist for the evening.

On Monday, baritone William Parker will present a recital of song cycles. Mr. Parker, a graduate in literature from Princeton University, is regarded as one of the finest young American singers, and has won numerous prizes in American and international competitions, including the "Singer of the Year" award from the National Association of Teachers of Singing.

Wednesday evening's recital will feature soprano Janice Harsanyi, familiar to Princeton audiences from her past association with the Westminster Choir College voice faculty and her activities as a concert and recording artist. Mrs. Harsanyi will perform a program of 20th Century songs including works of Britten, Poulenc, Dallapiccola and Webern. Janice Harsanyi is presently Artist-in Residence of the North Carolina School of the Arts in Winston-Salem, N.C.

Gerard Souzay, French baritone, will sing concerts on Tuesday, and Thursday. His programs will include selections from the French, German, Spanish and Russian repertoire.

Mr. Souzay has given numerous concerts, has an international reputation as one of the world's leading art song specialists, and has recorded for Angel, Phillips and RCA records. He will be accompanied on the piano by Dalton Baldwin, present at last year's Festival as accompanist to Elly Ameling.

SUMMER MUSIC BEGINS

With Friday Concert. The rock group "Free N' Easy" will set the beat for a summer-long series of free community concerts in Princeton. Everyone is invited to celebrate the last day of school and high school graduation at the University's Pardee Field this Friday from 7:30 to 9:30. The rain date is scheduled for Thursday, June 19, same time, same place.

The next "Summer Sounds" concert, on Thursday, June 26, will feature Arnie Roth's "Public Service" Dixieland Jazz on the Princeton Shopping Center Mall, followed by Steve Redfield's Big Band at Battlefield Park oo Thursday, July 10. Details of the second youth concert, at Pardee Field on Thursday, July 17, will be announced later.

The Princeton Folk Music Society will take over the Westminster Choir College Quad on Thursday, July 24, and the gospel group, the United Voices of Princeton, will be on Nassau Green in front of Nassau Hall oo Thursday, August 7.

"Sweet Adelines" and Barbershop Quartets will harmonize at Princeton High on Thursday, August 21, and the final concert, a blue grass jam session at Pardee Field, will conclude the series on Thursday, August 28.

All concerts start at 7:30 and will end before dark, except for the two-hour long youth concerts. Rain dates are slated for the following Fridays and will be announced after 3 by station WHWH. Bring blankets and camp chairs.

The program needs help setting up and running these musical evenings. Call Denise King at the Princeton Recreation Department, 921-9480.

ART
In Princeton

VICTORIANA REVISITED. At the Art Museum. Follow-up: Increasing interest in Victoriana has led us to our attics to rummage for overlooked treasure, and museums are no different.

A small exhibition of Victorian drawings from the museum collection has found its way to the public eye. It is interesting to view the artist's simple expression unhampered by the intricate story-telling process that entraps the paintings.

Although the paintings are highly-competent technical pieces, it is only in the drawings that it is possible to feel the presence of the artist. Pencil sketches, chalks, wash drawings, oil studies and portrait sketches still maintain a hint of the overblown romanticism that is present in the paintings, but are more comfortable to view as well as revealing more of the artist's skill. As with the paintings, it is possible to find a range of ability as well as subject.

Included are drawings by Sir David Wilkie, William Etty, Sir Edward Burne-Jones and Dante Gabriel Rosetti.

At the Artisan. Stoneware and porcelain by Albert Greene demonstrate a restrained but creative use of the potter's art to develop functional pieces. The scale is large, hightening the effect of the rich glazing techniques and creating strong impact through simple forms.

Green favors rich blue glazes which he uses as a base to create effective combinations and balances of color. Well applied and competently executed, the forms interact with the subtle tones for a powerful and pleasing effect.

At the Loft. Watercolor landscapes by Barbara Watts combine a realistic approach to her subject with painterly skill. Bucks County scenes are traditionally rendered but the execution of the paintings makes them noteworthy.

Good use of paint is combined with well selected color. Judicious use of opaque white and deep tones develops contrasts which effectively take these paintings out of the realm of the ordinary.

Acrylic collages by Murray Muldofsky create visual dynamism through shape and vigorously applied paint resulting in a stimulating optical effect. The interaction of the brushwork with the movement created by the loosely developed forms yields an intricate and visually rapid collection.

At Gallery 100. Watercolor paintings by Greta Greenfield include landscape, florals and several ventures into non-objective expression of color and form. Ms. Greenfield uses her paint well in a variety of styles. She is able to maintain the fluidity of the medium while controlling her paint for precise effects.

This artist is at her best in the more creative development of subject matters. Although the florals are competent, it is in the study of pattern through the use of nature forms that this artist excels.

At Grovers Mill Gallery. The work of five artists is featured in this new area gallery. An old grain mill has been restored to serve as the setting for an extensive range of style and media.

Oils by Rhoda Platt cross and recross the line that runs between realism and non-objective paintings. Drawing from representational subjects, the paintings are reduced to basic forms using an impasto technique. Deep tone used in subtle combinations dominate.

Vincent Ceglia develops fluid wash effects to create watercolors that contain the essence of landscape without any of the familiar accoutrements. Space is well manipulated and pleasing color harmonies are used to express rhythmic forms.

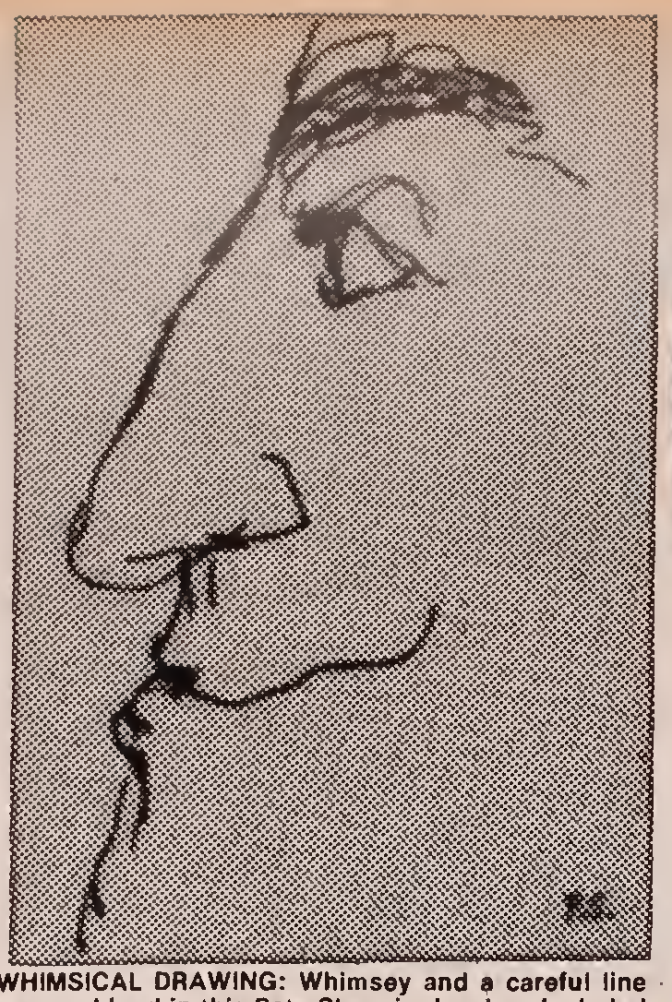
Pete Sherwin drawings are light whimsical studies developed with an economy of line. They are accompanied by woodcuts.

Watercolor lanscapes by Bob Little are realistic renderings. Familiar forms are competently worked in carefully designed compositions.

Paintings, woodcuts, etchings and collagraphs by Helen Schwartz are included in the collection.

At Squibb Galleries: The employee art exhibition reaches a level of excellence that is unusual in a collection of non-professionals. Graphics, watercolor, oils and acrylics are accompanied by competent sculpture. This small collection includes works that explore their subject and medium in a creative fashion and make a positive contribution to the Princeton summer art scene.

—Helen Schwartz



WHIMSICAL DRAWING: Whimsey and a careful line are combined in this Pete Sherwin drawing, included in the collection now on view at the Grovers Mill Gallery.

Dr. Carolyn E. Massad, 303 Emmons Drive, is the co-author of "the Teaching of English as a Foreign Language in Ten Countries." The book is a culmination of a project conducted by the International Association for the Evaluation of Educational Achievement, and is one of nine in a series of reports on the IEA project.

James C. Waugh, of Stockton, an English teacher at the Lawrenceville School, was one of four teachers who received Distinguished Teacher Awards during Princeton University's 228th Commencement. Recognizing "fruitful teaching and devoted service" in New Jersey schools–public, private and parochial, the awards were established in 1959 through an anonymous gift from a University alumnus. Eash teacher receives a $1,000 cash prize and his or her schoool is awarded $250 for the purchase of library books.

A 1949 Phi Beta Kappa and cum laude graduate of Williams College,Mr. Waugh taught at the Groton School from 1949-1961 before coming to Lawrenceville where he teaches some 12 courses to seniors, juniors and sophmores. A published poet, he has served as chairman of the English department and coach of the varsity baseball and junior varsity basketball teams.

Mr. Waugh received his award "for the depth and inspiration of his teaching an particularly for his blending of the critical and the creative processes in the classroom; for the insight his own work as a published poet brings to his students; and for the high skill he brings to all areas of school life."

Jay Lapidus, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Lapidus, 149 Galbreath Drive, was named recipient of the Sndlow Simmonds Memorial Tennis Trophy for the 1975 season from the Lawrenceville School. It is awarded yearly to the school's top tennis player.

Maryanne E. Telese, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Telese, 303 Ewing Street, received a master of music in music theater. A member of the musical union, the Gilbert and Sullivan Players and the Oberlin Music Theater, she was a district winner in Metropolitan National Auditions.

Steven S. Shermao, son of Mr. and Mrs. Abrahm Shermao, 170 Terhune Road, has been promoted to the rank of Lieutenant, Junior Grade. A Phi Beta Kapppa member, Lt. Sherman received his B.A. and M.S. magna cum laude from the University of Pennsylvania in 1973 where he was attached to the NROTC unit. He is currently serving aboard the carrier, U.S.S. Independence.

Three area residents were among 394 students who received bachelor of arts degrees from Weslyan University. They are Deborah M. Brown, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Milton Marion, 410 South Main Street, Pennington, cum laude; Anne L. Jacobs, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. William P. Jacobs, 72 Western Way, cum laude; and Harriet C. Singleton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Singleton, of Lawrenceville.

Six area residents have graduated from Oberlin College, Ohio. Kathleen M. McIntyre-Seltman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn H. McIntrye, Jr., 22 Eglantine Avenue, Pennington, received a bachelor of arts degree with high honors in biology. She was elected an associate member of the Society of the Sigma Xi in biology.

Thomas K. Evans, son of Dr. and Mrs. Thomas L. Evans, 266 Shadybrook Lane, received a bachelor of arts in chemistry; Neil Lefkowitz, son of Dr. and Mrs. Issai Lefkowitz, 26 Herrontown Circle, bachelor of arts in biology and government, elected to Phi Beta Kappa; and Monica E. 3 TRUSTEES ELECTED

To University Board. Russell E. Train, administrator of the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency; Theodore W. Foot, superintendent of schools in Wilton, Conn.; and Aaron P. Harber, who received his A.B. degree at commencement Tuesday, have been elected to Princeton University's Board of Trustees. Their election was announced at the annual meeting of the Princeton Alumni Association.

The newly elected trustees will serve 4-year terms on Princeton's governing board. Mr. Train has been voted Alumni Trustee At-Large representing 44,000 Princeton alumni. The 55-year-old conservationist and environmentalist, who has spent his entire career in public service, graduated from Princeton with honors in 1941. He took his LL.B. from Columbia University's Law School in 1948.

He was appointed Under Secretary of the Interior in 1969, serving for one year, until he was named the first chairman of the Council on Environmental Quality, thus becoming the President's chief advisor on environmental policy. In September 1973, he succeeded William D. Ruckelshaus as head of the EPA.

Mr. Foot, 40, has been voted Alumni Trustee from the New England states and New York. After graduation from Princeton in 1957, he moved on to the Harvard Graduate School of Education where he took his M.A., a certificate of advanced study and his doctorate in education while teaching high school English and coaching swimming.

Mr. Harber, 22, a major in the Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs, hails from Boulder, Colo. He is a former Chicago White Sox batboy who earned letters in tennis in Chicago and in Boulder. In Colorado, he won the state's top two academic awards and worked as staff aide in environmentalist Richard Lamm's successful gubernatorial campaign.

PLAYGROUND TO OPEN

Was It Ever Closed? A small celebration to mark the completion and formal opening of the Harrison Street Playground, with an entrance on Aiken Street off Princeton Avenue, will be held this Thursday at 4.

The playground represents the joint effort of Borough Council, the Borough's Engineering and Garage departments, the University School of Architecture, the Princeton High School shop classes, and various ad hoc citizens group. The biggest push on its construction came last summer when the architecture students supervised a "build-in" that attracted a group of citizens literally ranging in age from 8 to 80.

The final product, says Borough Councilwoman Barbara Sigmund, is a facility that combines the modern approach of using recycled materials in unusual ways as well as the traditional playground equipment.

The final product, says Borough Councilwoman Barbara Sigmund, is a facility that combines the modern approach of using recycled materials in unusual ways as well as the traditional playground equipment.

"We decided that kids still like the traditional equipment," Mrs. Sigmund said, "and we didn't want to throw out the baby with the bath water."

The modern equipment is constructed with everything from old tires to telephone poles to a piece of rusted sculpture that Joe Brown had left behing the architecture building on the University campus. Some of the equipment defies description. Referring to a structure that is a cross between a maize and a jungle gym, Mrs. Sigmund said, 'I just refer to it as the super thing."

Gates, Defending Champion, Eliminated as Play Begins in Annual Championship at Springdale

Moore Gates, Jr., the only golfer to win the club championship at Springdale three years running, won't make it four in a row. He was eliminated Sunday in an 18-hole first-round match by Dave Friedman.

Freidman, a former Greenacres member who joined the club just this spring, hasn't played there often enough to have an official handicap. He was good enough, however, to lead Gates by three on the 15th tee, the former champion's rally then falling one hole short of drawing even on the final green.

Alan Frank, Jr. was the medalist on Saturday with a 77, a windy day during which weather conditions worked against the players and pushed most scores among the top 16 qualifiers well above average. An 88 was good enough to make it into the championship round when 85 has missed in other years.

Frank advanced on Sunday with a 3-and-2 triumph over Bill Millman. He will face Kester Pierson on Saturday, the latter ousting Jack Mudge, 6 and 5. With Gates eliminated, Pierson is the only former Springdale champion among the eight quarter-finalists.

Closest match on Saturday in the championship flight was the extra-hole triumph of Ben Herrman over Bill Quackenbush, the Princeton golf coach. With the latter in trouble on the 19th, Herrman's bogey 5 did the trick.

Jim Litvack won easily over Sol Davidson, 6 and 4, and Scott Quackenbush, the coach's son who is a member of the University team, trimmed Tom James, 4 and 3. Ross Shrader, a former Seniors' champion, edged Jack Sweeney, 1 up, with John Miles defeating Mike Shillaber, 2 and 1.

In Saturday's morning matches, the pairings are Friedman vs. Litvack, Quackenbush vs. Herrman, Frank vs. Pierson and Shrader vs. Miles. Eighteen-hole semi-finals will be played that afternoon, with the two survivors meeting in a 36-hole final on Sunday.

In the first flight, Bob Hargraves defeated Ollie Houghton, 1 up; Will Reed defeated Bill Rose, 3 and 2; Ken Dawes won from Dick Liebler; Jack Petrone eliminated Fred Short, 2 and 1; Woody Wirsig defeated Charlie Foster, 2 up; Kline Fulmer won from Larry Sanford by default; Ken Roll won from Harold Crane; and Don Conner defeated Peter Budd.

Second flight results: Ralph Mather over Dick Bradley, 4 and 3; Dave Savage over John Loughlin; Ralph Allaire over George Ford, 8 and 7; Arne Booth over Lyle Fitch, 6 and 5; Jack Childress over Paul Erler by default; Frank Crecca over Bob Cronin by default; Joe Masick over Lester Robbins, 2 up; and Bob McCarthy over Bill Bowman.

In the third flight, Jim Mead won from Alan Poole, 4 and 3; Dick Schoch defeated Andy Cahill, 5 and 4; Frank Dick eliminated John Miller, 5 and 4; and Bob Clancy won from Ed Johnson. Advancing a round by virtue of byes were Fred Gallagher, Bill Wilson, Don Shaw and B.E. Bergesen.

All winners on Saturday morning will play their semi-final matches that afternoon, with the finals scheduled for Sunday.

WOMEN TO ROW HERE

In National Regatta. The undefeated Radcliffe College crew and Princeton University's outstanding pair of Janet Youngholm and Carol Brown will be favored to capture titles in the 10th annual National Women's Rowing Association Championship regatta on Lake Carnegie, June 19 through 22.

Youngholm and Brown are the defending national champions in the pairs competition, winning the title last year on Lake Merritt in Oakland, Calif. The Radcliffe crew has been the outstanding boat in the east this spring, sweeping through its competition without a loss.

The races will be held on Lake Carnegie's Albridge C. "Bud" Smith 2000-meter course, which was the site of the Eastern Sprint rowing championships and has been the training home of the United States men's national rowing team. 600 competitors representing some 50 schools are expected to compete in nine open events, eight lightweight events and four youth events.

This year's regatta will mark the centennial anniversary of women's collegiate rowing in America. It will also be a main testing ground for rowers who will be seeking a berth on the 1976 United States Olympic team, when women's rowing becomes an official part of the Olympic program.

ASSISTANT NAMED

For Pete Carril. Anthony J. "Tony" Relvas, who has established an outstanding record at Nazareth (Pa.) Area Senior High School over the past three years, has been named freshman basketball coach at Princeton.

Relvas, 30, will work under Pete Carril, who led Princeton to the N.I.T. title. He replaces Gary Walters, the Tiger alumnus who is now head coach at Dartmouth.

At Nazareth High School, Relvas' teams posted a record of 46 wins and 17 losses, reaching the playoffs each season. His teams were noted for their aggressive defense, which has been a trademark of Carril's at Princeton for the past eight years.

"I consider Tony one of the finest young basketball strategists and technicians in the country," Carril said. "I

Here's an amazing oddity from baseball about strike outs. Bobby Bonds set the all-time record for striking out the most times in one season when he fanned 189 times in 1970--but, at the other end of the scale Lloyd Waner, who holds the record for playing the most years with fewest strikeouts, fanned only 173 times in 18 YEARS of playing regularly...Just think, Bonds struck out more often in one season than Waner did all together in 18 years!

A mathematician recently figured out that the odds on any major league baseball player breaking Joe DiMaggio's record of hitting safely in 56 straight games are about 6-million to one!

Although it would seem impossible for any golfer to be able to make two holes-in-one in a row, actually in golf history there are seven recorded cases of golfers getting holes-in-one on two consecutive holes!

I have known him since his high school days and worked with him many times in off-season camps and clinics. We had some outstanding candidates for the position here, but Tony had the credentials which impressed me the most."

Relvas is a 1962 graduate of Easton Area High School, where he scored over 1,000 career points and won All-American and All-State honors. He was also a standout at Wesley Junior College for two years, before completing his college work at Appalachian State where he received a Bachelor of Science degree in physical education. Relvas, who is married, will begin his work at Princeton on July 1.

UPSETS PREVAIL

In Business Softball. It was the week of the upset in both divisions of the Princeton Business Softball League, as two undefeated teams fell in the American, leaving first place occupied by Norelco.

The biggest surprise came when a revamped Cities Service Research team took a 1-0 lead away from McGraw Hill in the bottom of the sixth with two runs knocked in by Bob Lewis to win it, 2-1. Lewis was perfect with 3-for-3 at the plate including a double, saving the win for pitcher Charles Bowers.

Over in the National Division, undefeated Firmenich defeated ETS, 6-5, ETS having to play catch up ball with four runs in the last two innings. Tom Callagan was Firmenich's strong man with 3-3 hitting and three RBI's.

The other two runs came off the (2-3) bat of Bob Pagano. Bill Faulkner's 3-4 effort made the night that much easier for pitcher Bob Elkins. Pete Semonelli smashed a four bagger for the losers. Firmenich has sole possession of first place in the National Division, but faces undefeated Forrestal next week.

Norelco just managed to keep possession of first place in the American Division by defeating Mathematica, 4-3, on the strength of Stan Cygen's pitching, and four runs on five hits in the fifth inning.

Forrestal, which on number of games played is one game out of first place in the National, warmed up for its match with Firmenich next week by clobbering Ingersoll Rand Research, 25-1. Joe McFadden was 5-5 in the slugfest, and John Rzcak had four hits, including a homer to preserve pitcher Jack Barto's undefeated record.

Clark Lennon's 3-4 hitting along with pitcher Buddie McCrie's 2-3 performance helped American Cyanamid down GFDL, 8-2, despite five double plays by GFDL. Bob Taskes' outstanding play in left field and Herb Layton's superb defense at short contributed to the win.

ERC took on RCA(B) and limited them to five hits in winning, 16-0. Skip Schroeder, Dom Persichelli and Colin Pettersen all had homers for the winners in the shutout, while Bob Pudgin was 4-5.

Also, the First National Bank of Princeton downed Institute for Defense Analyses, 14-5. Tim Kearns went 2-3 with an opposite field home run for the Bankers, while teammate Dick Embley was 3-4, and Tom Ryan went 2-4 with a homer and three RBI's.

At the end of the sixth week of play, the standings are:

Freshmen to Join Varsity

Based upon recent decisions by the presidents of the Ivy League Colleges, Princeton University athletic director Royce N. Flippin, Jr. has announced that freshmen will play varsity hockey next season.

Ivy League presidents have now approved freshman eligibility in baseball, lacrosse, soccer and hockey, in addition to those approved several years ago. Princeton will allow freshmen to compete on the varsity level in all four sports. The freshman hockey and soccer eligibility will be on a local option three-year trial basis, after which the Ivy League presidents will review their decision.

The only Ivy League intercollegiate sports without freshman basketball and crew.

CHECK BULLETIN BOARD

For Tennis Information. To assist Princeton area players with the schedule of summer tournaments and car pools, the Princeton Community Tennis Office, 71 University Place, has set aside a special bulletin board for up-to-date tournament information.

As a service to the community, the office will coordinate transportation to the various summer tournaments – either by car pools or by bus. In the event of bus travel, the cost will be divided among the participants, with a small additional fee charged to players outside the Community Tennis Program when a paid chaperone accompanies the group.

Middle States tournaments, the Tennis Office has schedules for summer tournaments of the Eastern Lawn Tennis Association, the New England Lawn Tennis Association, and all other 17 geographical sections of the USTA. Participation in tournaments outside the Middle States region does not count towards a player's regional ranking. Players must play in at least three Middle States tournaments to be eligible for a sectional ranking.

Tournament entry blanks and sign-up sheets are available at the Tennis Office (924-4343) between 9 and 5 weekdays.

TENNIS CLINICS SET

In Lawrence Township. Tennis lessons will be offered at clinics sponsored by the Lawrence Township Recreation Commission for boys and girls with no previous experience as well as those competing at the varsity level.

The clinics will be held every morning for six weeks with one week reserved for tournament play. Classes will begin June 24 at Rider College, Lawrence High School, Eggerts Crossing, Colonial Lakelands and Community Park.

There are five classifications: Beginner, advanced beginner, intermediate, advanced, and varsity. Age groups accepted are from 9 through 17.

Registration will take place at the Recreation office in the Township Municipal Building on Wednesday, June 11; Thursday, June 12; and Friday, June 13, from 6 to 8 p.m.

THREE UNDEFEATED

In Adult Softball League. Ivy Inn, Andy's Tavern and Kingston Wine and Liquor all won two games, as the Princeton Recreation Adult Softball League completed its first week of action.

Tony Pirone had a big week for Ivy Inn, collecting nine hits in as many at-bats, and leading Ivy to wins over C.S.C., 14-9, and P.M.C. 23-0. Every man in the Ivy Inn lineup hit safely in both contests. The P.M.C. romp produced 30 hits, all but one singles. George McVaugh and Walt Brower had four hits each.

Andy's Tavern recorded victories over Plainsboro Package Store, 13-11, and C.S.C., 9-5. Ray Cranston, Gene Swanhart and Dave Mansue had three hits apiece against Plainsboro, while Lindsay Robbins had four-for-four for the losers.

Andy's continued its hot hitting against C.S.C., as it pounded out 19 hits. Ray Cranston again had a three-hit performance, as did John Barone and Kevin Lubas.

Glenn Rainsley's third hit of the night drove in Brian Henninger with the winning run to lead Kingston Wine and Liquor to a 7-6 win over Center Sports. The Kingston club made it a perfect week with a 11-10 slugfest win over Plainsboro Package Store. Ed Coldren and Brian Henninger each homered for the winners. Don Shinn had three hits for Plainsboro.

In other league action, Center Sports defeated Conte's, 6-3, behind Jack Petrone, who led the victor with three hits, one a homer.

Conte's gained a win opening night against P.M.C., 12-6, scoring nine runs early, then coasting to victory. Jim Reese had three hits for the winners.

The standings:

ONE TIE, ONE WIN

In Babe Ruth League. A substantial increase in the interest in a Princeton entry in the Mercer County Senior Babe Ruth league has led this year to the establishment of a team representing the town. If the team continues to perform as it has in its first two games, Princeton could prove to be more than enough competition for the more established teams in its first season of competition.

In its season opener, Princeton quickly opened up a 4-0 lead, only to allow their Lawrence opponents to tie them by committing six errors in a game that finished as a 4-4 tie because of darkness. Princeton jumped out to a four run lead in the first two innings behind the hitting of Scott Thompson, who drove in three runs with two hits, one of them a double. Additional support was provided by Dave Walker, who punched out two hits, and Paul Soderman and Dave Seagers, who each had doubles.

John Madden pitched a fine game for the new Princeton team, striking out eight Lawrence batters and allowing just three earned runs. However, sloppy fielding and poor judgment by the defense opened the door to four Lawrence runs by allowing the opposition to apply a great deal of pressure. Following a two-run fourth inning, Lawrence capitalized on a missed opportunity for a double play and an error by the Princeton catcher, followed by a hard double to tie the game in the sixth inning and finish the scoring.

In the next game, against Pitman Moore of Hopewell, Princeton experienced a complete reversal of its former defensive ineptitude as it shut out the opposition in a tight 1-0 victory. Dana Nini held Pitman Moore to just two singles, both by catcher Bill Noonan, and struck out five. This time, however, the defense pulled through with the necessary support. Dave Seagers, who threw out three runners trying to steal, and Dave Robinson, who turned in a flawless job at second, provided the high points in an excellent defensive game by the entire Princeton team.

Although Princeton was hot in the field, it could muster just five hits off Pitman Moore pitching, all singles. The one run Princeton could manage came when Dave Walker scored on Ed Volz's single.

MRS. THORNTON VICTOR

In Springdale Tourney. Ruth Thornton posted a 36-hole score of 182 to take first place in the annual Betty Whalen Tournament at the Springdale Golf Club. Shirley Pearce finished second with a 185.

The Chairman's Tournament, based on a 36-hole net score, was won by Betty Whalen with a 147 net. Lu Millman came in second with 154.

FISHING CONTEST SET

Scheduled for June 21. The annual Mercer County Kiddie Fishing Contest will take place on Saturday, June 21, (rain or shine), at Belle Mountain Lake. Hours for fishing are 10 to noon, but an earlier arrival is recommended.

All children under 14 are eligible to participate. There will be prizes for everyone, admission is free and hot dogs and soda will be served.

The contest is co-sponsored by the Mercer County Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs and the Mercer County Park Commission. Last year 437 youngsters participated.
